HEAVY RAINFALL TO CONTINUE IN SOUTHERN STATES TILL FEB

The India Meteorological Department has forecast above-normal rainfall between December and February in most southern states

WARMER WINTER LIKELY IN NORTH INDIA

The weather department said coastal Andhra Pradesh, Rayalaseema, south interior Karnataka, inner Puducherry, Tamil Nadu and Kerala will continue to get abundant showers. In its winter forecast released on Wednesday, the IMD predicted normal or above normal (warmer) minimum temperature over north Indian states during the 3-month period

LA NINA CONDITIONS MAY PLAY OUT: IMD

- However, below normal minimum temperature is most likely over some parts of north-interior peninsula that comprises north Karnataka, parts of Telangana and Marathwada, the IMD said
- La Nina conditions are likely to strengthen and peak to moderate conditions during the upcoming winter season, it added

Suspended since March 2020 to deal with second Covid wave; special flights, however, operating since July last year

INT'L FLIGHTS BACK ON HOLD

KUMAR VIKRAM @ New Delhi

DAYS after announcing resumption of international commercial flights from December 15, the Centre on Wednesday indefinitely put it off in the wake of concerns over the spread of the newly detected Omicron strain of Covid globally.

"In view of the evolving global scenario with the emergence of new variants of concern, the situation is being watched closely in consultation with all stakeholders and an appropriate decision indicating the effective date of resumption of scheduled commercial international passenger services shall be notified in due course," the Directorate General of Civil Aviation said.

The decision came days after PM Narendra Modi asked officials to review plans to ease international travel restrictions by factoring in the Omicron outbreak in countries labeled at-risk. The at-risk nations are: Europe, UK, South Africa, Brazil, Botswana, China, Mauritius, New Zealand, Zimbabwe, Singapore, Hong Kong and Israel.

International commercial flights have been suspended for as many as 21 months since March 2020. However, special passenger flights have been operating since July last year under air bubble arrangements with around 28 countries.

Many state governments have already urged Modi not to resume flights from 'at risk' countries. Maharashtra went further and directed all international arrivals to take mandatory RT-PCR tests and 14 days of home quarantine, even if they are not from at-risk nations, prompting a rebuke from the Centre. It directed the Uddhav government to align itself with the guidelines issued by the Centre .

Maharashtra had also made it mandatory for those from at risk countries to be placed in institutional quarantine of seven days, during which they had to take three RT-PCR tests (on the second, fourth and seventh days). A positive test would land them in hospital.

Union Health Secretary Rajesh Bhushan's missive said the state's order is in divergence with the Centre's SoPs. "I would urge you to align the orders issued by the state with the guidelines issued by the Ministry of Health," he said.

2% RANDOM SAMPLING

Further revising its advisory, the Ministry of Civil Aviation on Wednesday said only 2% of passengers from non 'at-risk' countries will be subject to random sampling for Covid as against 5% earlier

All such passengers will be permitted to leave the airport after giving the samples, the ministry explained in a set of Frequently Asked Questions | P18

Six positive cases from at-risk countries

Six Covid-positive cases were reported on Wednesday after screening 3,476 passengers from 11 flights that arrived in India from 'at-risk' countries. Their samples have been sent for genomic sequencing, the health ministry said

Not fully vaccinated? No entry at malls, parks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

ONLY those who have completed both doses of vaccination will be allowed inside malls, theatres and parks, and the order comes into force with immediate effects, said BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta on Wednesday.

The decision, based on the recommendations made by the Technical Advisory Committee (TAC), was taken after Gupta met health department officials. Directions are also being issued to all schools to test at least 10 per cent of children for Covid once a month. Discussions will be held with hotel, vendor and resident associations to conduct regular tests and to convince their members to complete their full dosage.

BBMP Special Commissioner, Health, Dr KV Thrilok Chandra said that BBMP marshals, security and other staff at apartments, offices and other premises will be deployed to check whether the visitors are vaccinated.

"Everyone has their vaccination certificates on their smartphones. They have to show it before entry, along with the regular mandatory Covid screening. The decision has been taken as cases are fluctuating and new variants are emerging," he said.

According to BBMP records, as on November 30, 1,40,20,978 doses have been administered. In all, 81,01,697 have taken the first dose and 59,19,281 the second. P3

K'taka GST mop-up zooms past ₹9,000 cr

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THE GST collection in Karnataka has seen a strong upward movement, increasing from about ₹8,200 crore in October 2021 to ₹9,048 crore by November 30, 2021. Compared to the GST collection in November last year which was ₹6,915 crore there is a 31 per cent growth.

Even as the state and country are facing Omicron fears, economists said that the northward movement in GST collection is here to stay. The fundamentals are strong and GST collections may even come close to the ₹10,000 crore mark in December or January next year if the growth rate continues, they added. P4

GST collections in India jumped to over ₹1.31 lakh crore in November, the second highest since its implementation in 2017, in line with the recovery, the Centre said on Wednesday. P13

UPA is over, says Didi after meeting Pawar

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

WEST Bengal chief minister and Trinamool Congress supremo Mamata Banerjee, who is aggressively pushing the idea of a non-Congress opposition front against the BJP, said on Wednesday that regional parties must come together as the Congress-led UPA is defunct.

"There is no UPA now," she said after meeting NCP chief Sharad Pawar at residence in Mumbai on Wednesday. "UPA is over. Now, the regional parties who are opposed to the BJP must come together and put up a joint fight," she added.

Earlier in the day, Mamata held a meeting with activists and civil society members. Taking a swipe at Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, she said one can't do politics in India by staying in a foreign country. "If a person wants to stay in a foreign country most of the time, how will it work in politics? If you are not on the ground, the BJP will defeat you," she said.

While extending support to Mamata, Pawar asked NCP ministers to meet her to boost their fight against the BJP in Maharashtra. On who will lead the anti-BJP front, Pawar said it will be sorted out after the polls through consensus.

Meanwhile, the Congress pooh-poohed Mamata's political moves. "Thinking that anybody can defeat the BJP without the Congress is merely a dream," said party General Secretary K C Venugopal. Maharashtra PCC chief Nana Patole said only the Congress can give a strong alternative to BJP.

On Tuesday, Mamata had met Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut and Maharashtra environment minister Aaditya Thackeray.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO ALL THE ESTEEMED POLICYHOLDERS OF LIC OF INDIA

NOT FOR DISTRIBUTION TO ANY ADDRESS LOCATED OUTSIDE OF INDIA

1. You may have noted from press reports that the Government of India is very keen and desirous to make a public offering of equity shares of the Life Insurance Corporation of India ("LIC" or the "Corporation") and list the equity shares on the Indian stock exchanges.
2. As you may be aware by now, the Government of India, in the interest of the policyholders of LIC, has passed an amendment to the LIC Act, 1956 permitting the Corporation to make a reservation on a competitive basis, in favour of its policyholders, at any time during the period of five years of the commencement of Section 131 of the Finance Act, 2021, i.e., five years from June 30, 2021, as one of the reserved categories in any public offering that the Corporation may undertake in the future, subject to necessary approvals.
3. In order to participate in any such public offering, policyholders will need to ensure that their PAN details are updated in the Corporation's records. Further, subscribing to any public offering in India is only possible if you have a valid DEMAT account – accordingly, policyholders should ensure that they have an active DEMAT account in place.
4. In the interests of our policyholders, we have in the past been running advertisements calling upon you to update your PAN in our records. If you have not yet provided this information to the Corporation, please do it at the earliest. This is very important from a KYC perspective, as well as your ability to participate in the proposed public offering by the LIC, as and when it takes place, subject to receipt of requisite regulatory and other approvals, in respect of such public offering. This will be used to help you participate in the proposed offering.
5. The process for updating your PAN details with the Corporation is as set out below:
   - 5.1 You may visit the Corporation website www.licindia.in OR https://licindia.in/Home/Online-PAN-Registration. Keep ready your Policy number, PAN, date of birth and e-mail ID, which needs to be filled in while updating your PAN.
   - 5.2 You may update the records for all of your LIC policies using the above link.
   - 5.3 You can also check whether your PAN is registered in your Policy or not by visiting the Corporation's website www.licindia.in OR https://linkpan.licindia.in/UIDSeedingWebApp/getPolicyPANStatus?
   - 5.4 Alternately, you may contact LIC Agent for assistance.
   - 5.5 In case you do not have PAN allotted to you, we suggest that you may apply for the same as soon as possible. You may apply for PAN, for which procedure is as given at https://www.incometaxindia.gov.in/Pages/tax-services/apply-for-pan.aspx Once received by you, please do not forget to update PAN in your records with the Corporation.
   - 5.6 In relation to DEMAT accounts, if you currently do not hold a valid DEMAT account, you should consider taking the following steps at your sole discretion and at your own cost, if any:

   Contact a Depository Participant (DP) who can assist you with the opening of a DEMAT account for your benefit. You can refer to the following link to select the relevant DP to open the DEMAT account –
   - (i) DP registered with NSDL - https://sebi.gov.in/sebiweb/other/OtherAction.do?doRecognisedFpi=yes&intmId=19
   - (ii) DP registered with CDSL - https://sebi.gov.in/sebiweb/other/OtherAction.do?doRecognisedFpi=yes&intmId=18
   - (iii) If your KYC by a KRA (KYC Registration Agency) is not verified, then you need to provide the following key documents to the DP to open the DEMAT account:
     - Recent photograph
     - PAN card
     - Address proof
     - Cancelled cheque
   - (iv) The respective DP might also ask for some more relevant documents, basis their internal requirements.
   - (v) In case you require any assistance, you may please consider contacting your banker or broker in this regard.
6. We once again reiterate that this notice or any information being shared with our policyholders is not an offering of equity shares of the Corporation, and that there will be no public offering of equity shares in the United States. Additionally, you would have to approach the Depository Participant yourself and you would be solely responsible for your DEMAT account and its functioning.
7. This communication is not an offer or an invitation to subscribe to equity shares of the Corporation in a public offering or otherwise. The timeline and details of any such proposed public offering are presently unknown. The structure (including whether a reservation will be made for the policyholders on a competitive basis) has also not yet been approved by its shareholder(s) and the Corporation. There is also no assurance that all policyholders will be allotted any or all of the equity shares they apply for in the proposed offering if a reservation is made for the policyholders in such public offering as such reservation is on a competitive basis. The Corporation does not guarantee the performance of its equity shares and anyone who does apply in any proposed offering would need to be aware of the risks associated with investing in equity shares and resultant volatility.

You would incur costs towards opening of a DEMAT account and/or PAN issuance and maintaining the DEMAT account or other ancillary costs. All such costs would have to be solely borne by you. No costs would be borne by the Corporation.

SUDHA BHARADWAJ GRANTED DEFAULT BAIL

ENS @ Mumbai

THE Bombay High Court on Wednesday granted default bail to lawyer and activist Sudha Bharadwaj who has been under arrest in the Bhima Koregaon case since August 2018.

However, it refused bail to eight other accused in the case. Bharadwaj will now be produced before the Special Court, NIA, Mumbai on December 6 to define the terms and conditions for her bail.

A default bail is granted when the probe agency fails to file its chargesheet within 90 days of arrest of the accused. The eight other accused who sought bail were Surendra Gadling, Varavara Rao, Sudhir Dhawale, Shoma Sen, Rona Wilson, Mahesh Raut, Vernon Gonsalves and Arun Ferreira.

The petition by Bharadwaj had argued that two additional sessions judges of the Pune sessions court, who remanded them in custody, had not been designated as special judges and therefore, could not have taken cognisance of their case under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA). P10

After Faruqui, Kamra's B'luru shows shelved

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

DAYS after permission was denied to a stand-up comedy show by Munawar Faruqui in Bengaluru, a series of shows featuring comedian Kunal Kamra has been cancelled in the city. It is said that Kamra's shows were cancelled following protests by residents near the venue at JP Nagar.

The shows were scheduled over the next 20 days. Police sources said the organisers had not informed them about the shows nor had they denied permission. "We have nothing to do with the shows. We came to know that there were protests by a few people at the venue and the organisers called off the show," a senior police officer said.

Interestingly, the venue, where the shows were to be held, remained unidentified. P7

Chaos reigns at KIA as int'l passengers line up for test

Delayed results anger travellers; testing centre blames huge volume

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE mandatory Covid-19 testing for travellers from high-risk countries, which started at Kempegowda International Airport from Wednesday midnight, witnessed chaos, delays and miscommunication. It left many flyers – particularly who those opted for Rapid RT-PCR tests -- frustrated as the test results took more than double the promised time by its designated test centre, Auriga Research Centre.

Executive chairperson of Biocon Limited Kiran Mazumdar-Shaw slammed the gross mismanagement in implementing Covid restrictions at Bengaluru airport, saying, "This is a huge infection risk for travellers."

Confusion began with the rates specified by airport operator Bangalore International Airport Limited (BIAL) as Rs 3,000 for RAT, with results to be made available within an hour; the standard test was Rs 500, with results to be handed over in 5-6 hours. However, an automated response on the agency's number (7411781509), shared by BIAL with flyers on its social media handle, spelt out Rapid rates as Rs 3,200, with 30 minutes to 2 hours, and Rs 800 for the regular test, with a turnaround time of 16-24 hours.

General Manager of Auriga Research Centre, Gautham told TNIE that passengers from three flights of high-risk countries of Germany, France and UK landed via Lufthansa, Air France and Air India at the same time, in the early hours of Wednesday. "The sheer volume of passengers coming for testing left us overwhelmed. We had to take everyone's samples and process them. All their results had to be completed first, and it delayed passengers on subsequent flights. The Rapid test took us 2 to 2.5 hrs in some cases, while we were able to deliver the standard test within the prescribed five hours," he said.

He added that rates were not updated online with reduced rates specified by the State government recently – Rs 3,000 and Rs 500 -- and revised timings.

BIAL in an advisory said, "The service provider which operates the laboratory at Bengaluru airport experienced some delays today in processing test results. In the coming days, the laboratory will be scaling up operations to cater to the increasing volume." Adequate seating arrangements have been made for passengers to wait for test results, it added.

Non-availability of the website page to register for the test, or inability to speak to the call centre executive were other complaints.

TRAVELLERS VENT IT OUT ON TWITTER

Frustrated passengers, meanwhile, took to social media. Parikshith, a Karnataka native, put out these tweets: "@BLRAirport, we might not have COVID but we will definitely contract it in the airport because of your inability to manage the crowd. Shame!" ..... "Absolute chaos in the airport to check data and get covid test done. No proper information, no co-ordination and redundant data check while we still haven't got out of airport because even rapid test takes more than two hours to get the result. SORT YOURSELVES!"

@Manipicsone tweeted: "It is freaking me out. The PCR testing procedure and endless chaos created by @BLRAirport in painful. Have to pay 3k for the test and wandering around when the results will be in."

SCHOOLTIME BLUES

Online classes? Not again, say students

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@ Bengaluru

"I dread another run of online classes," rued Rose (name changed), a first-year student at a private college affiliated to Bengaluru City University. She is among many students who fear going back to the online mode after more than a year of it during the pandemic, as they do not feel they have acquired the competencies they expected.

Students from various colleges who spoke to TNIE were worried that examinations are round the corner and lecturers are quickly completing the practical classes expecting a restart of online classes. This comes in the backdrop of the Covid clusters mushrooming in educational institutes in Karnataka, and the global emergence of the Omicron variant.

For students like Sana (name changed), a second-year student, online classes have already started two months ago. "Ever since the first year students started classes in October, we have been asked to attend online classes. But exams are planned offline," she said. "More than a year has gone waste due to online classes, and I could not exercise my leadership skills to the fullest potential," added Sana, who is the class representative.

Psychologist Manika Ghosh, president, Bangalore Psychology Forum, agreed that online classes failed to tackle problems such as bullying, whereas in physical classes, schools have preventive mechanisms. "The online setup also impacted students' holistic development, including relationship development," she added. As a result, teachers need to deal with students in a more sensitive manner and teaching methodology has to change, she noted.

"It has been almost two years since but many teachers still aren't orientated towards online classes. Many teachers are struggling with technology," she said. The Karnataka Government College Teachers' Association (KGCTA) president T M Manjunath agreed that no training was held for teachers. However, commissioner of Collegiate Education Department, Pradeep P, insisted that training was held online for teachers, and a learning management system had classes and PPTs for two semesters.

Forgotten bodies: ESI changes dean

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Employees' State Insurance Corporation (ESIC) has changed the dean of ESI Hospital, Rajajinagar, after the discovery of two Covid-19 bodies, forgotten in the mortuary for 15 months. The ESIC comes under the Ministry of Labour and Employment.

On Wednesday, Dr Renuka Ramaiah, director professor, Obstetrics and Gynaecology, was appointed dean in-charge of ESI Hospital and Post Graduate Institute of Medical Science and Research, in place of Dr Jeetendra Kumar.

TNIE reported on November 29, that hospital negligence had caused two bodies to be left behind in the old mortuary of the hospital, after the patients passed away due to the virus in July 2020.

As many Covid-19 patients were dying during that time, it was decided to shift the bodies to the new mortuary. Moreover, the old mortuary was near the oxygen gas pipeline of the hospital, so it was closed down. The hospital neglected to move these two bodies and forgot about them, a staff member said. They were discovered when the housekeeping was cleaning the old mortuary.

FOREST DEPT MUST CARE FOR PUTTENAHALLI BIRD RESERVE: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

NOTING that the Chief Wildlife Warden is the competent authority to control, manage and maintain the Puttenhalli Bird Conservation Reserve in Yelahanka, the Karnataka High Court stated, "We do not find any justification handing over the bird conservation reserve to the BBMP."

Quashing the notification dated December 11, 2019, issued by the State Government to hand over the bird conservation reserve to BBMP, a division bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum directed the Forest Department to look after the reserve. Yelahanka Puttenahalli Lake and Bird Conservation Trust questioned the notification through a PIL.

Directing the government to release a sum of Rs 25 lakh, which has been allotted to carry out pending work at the reserve, the court passed the order to ensure that proper maintenance and development takes place in order to conserve birds, their young ones, eggs and nests.

IN THE HC

The court also directed the BWSSB to take all the adequate and full measures to prevent/stop the leakage of sewage into the Puttenahalli conservation reserve forthwith for the safety of flora and fauna. The BWSSB in collaboration with the Chief Wildlife Warden shall visit the sanctuary to ensure proper maintenance and completion of pending work, the court added. The court also noted that the needed work at the reserve is not being carried out, owing to negligence on part of the State Government.

It's all most confusing!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
If you do eventually decide to move on, it can only be because the moment is right to broaden your horizons. Once you allow your feelings to change, they will develop a momentum of their own, and you will soon find that what was good enough in the past will no longer do.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You may imagine that there is no way out of embarrassing situations, in which case it must be said that you are quite wrong. So much exists purely in your fantasy world at the moment, that you should hold back from making definite judgments about partners' thoughts and feelings.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
If you are still in a quandary over matrimonial or partnership affairs, the reason is because you're allowing your desire for status to influence your feelings. You should try to be less critical of partners' ambitions, and support them whatever they do.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The overall planetary picture is extremely encouraging, even though you may have some doubts. Indeed, if you didn't have any worries about the future you wouldn't be human. You just have to realise that people who are behaving erratically are serving your life pattern, even if in their own curious way.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
There will be days when the odds seem to be stacked against you, and this might just be one of them. Look more closely, though, and you'll see that all you have to do is complete a certain number of essential tasks and everything will turn out fine.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You have had more than your fair share of financial problems in the past and, if these should now threaten to return, it could be because of bad management, especially where other people's money is concerned. Ask for advice and you'll be astonished how ready people are to help.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Listen carefully to what other people are saying, mainly because for once their words and feelings seem to coincide. You can therefore afford to trust people who have proved their worth, and even hope that they'll make up for a past mistake - with your encouragement, of course.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You must turn your attention to cash or career issues, but only because these areas of your life can be the subject of such intense emotions. It's important that you check out any area that has been ignored over the past fortnight, just to see that all's well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
In a matter of days, you should have found out exactly how someone really does feel about you. This, of course, could come as something of a relief, for at last you will know where you stand. There are few people who can get the better of you, and many who should learn from your example.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The scope for dramatic change at home is almost infinite. Forget what you're 'supposed' to do, realise that the rules are completely meaningless, and do what you know in your heart of hearts must now be accomplished. Try to convince people you live with that what is good for you is best for them!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The dominant planetary alignment is still thoroughly Aquarian, so you should be in your element at the present time. Surprisingly enough, there is no need for you to say what you mean, but do realise that partners could be equally inconsistent!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Let others live with their consciences while you fall in with splendid Martian alignments and concentrate on new plans and responsibilities. Don't waste time, and devote special attention to buttering up people who can help you in the future.

ISOLATION WARDS TO BE KEPT READY

Testing, quarantine must for international passengers; safety guidelines to be strictly enforced

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SEPARATE isolation wards will be created in government hospitals and medical college hospitals to treat international passengers who test Covid-19 positive and are found to have the Omicron variant, Health and Medical Education Minister K Sudhakar said. A meeting was held with health and district officials in this regard on Tuesday, and another meeting will be held with BBMP officials to prepare hospitals in the city for the same.

On Thursday, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai will also meet Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya to put forward the need for booster doses for health and frontline workers. "Waning of antibodies has been observed among people who took Covid vaccines early. Hence, booster doses might be required," Sudhakar said.

He also said that as of now, it is not very clear how Omicron will impact children, though it is known to be a very fast-spreading virus. The central government is also contemplating the rollout of Covid-19 vaccines for children, which are expected to be available at the earliest.

Meanwhile, the Covid-19 Technical Advisory Committee has recommended that the government penalise people or curtail government services for those who have not taken both doses of the vaccine. "We felt such measures would not bring a good name to the government, so we will not take such steps. Instead, people will be convinced to take the vaccine and we will address vaccine hesitancy. In the past few days, the number of people taking the vaccine has increased. The door-to-door vaccine campaign is also picking up pace," Sudhakar said, adding that there is no shortage of vaccines.

OMICRON THREAT

Tele-medicine, increasing the number of tests, mandatory masking up and other safety guidelines will be strictly enforced. If cases increase, other measures will be introduced. There has been no discussion yet on stamping the hands of quarantined individuals, Christmas and New Year celebrations.

All international passengers will be tested at Karnataka airports from Wednesday, though the central government has mandated that only 5 per cent of them be randomly tested. Those who test negative will be quarantined at home for seven days, and their health monitored during this time.

Those who are symptomatic and whose reports come negative, will be tested again on the fifth day. They are free to move around only with a negative report. If the RT-PCR report comes positive, they will be hospitalised and treated. Passengers may face some delay because testing is mandatory, but it is inevitable, the minister said.

SAMPLES TO BE SENT TO INSACOG LABS

Districts are to send Covid-19 samples to INSACOG laboratories for genome sequencing, through 10 identified centres in the state. The two INSACOG labs in Karnataka are in NCBS and Nimhans. Samples are not to be sent to private or non-INSACOG labs.

NEW NORMS TO CHECK OMICRON

- Only travellers arriving from at-risk countries — UK, South Africa, Brazil, Botswana, China, Mauritius, New Zealand, Zimbabwe, Singapore, Hong Kong, Israel — to be tested
- If negative, travellers will follow home quarantine for seven days, get re-tested on eighth day, and if test comes negative, will monitor their own health for another week
- If positive, their samples will be sent for genomic sequencing to INSACOG lab network, and kept at separate isolation facility
- Contacts will also be kept under institutional or home quarantine
- Travellers from countries not considered at-risk, will be allowed to leave the airport and shall self-monitor their health for 14 days
- Even among them, 2% of travellers will be randomly tested, and if positive, their samples will be sent for genomic sequencing
- Travellers must submit self-declaration form online on Air Suvidha portalbefore the travel
- Travellers must upload negative RT-PCR test report, conducted within 72 hours prior to journey

More checks to ensure people are vaxxed

THE meeting, which was held to review the preparedness and preventive strategies to tackle Omicron, also decided that checks would be intensified at offices and other premises to ensure that people have taken double vaccination.

Earlier in the day, Gaurav Gupta said that testing will be intensified on those with symptoms and random testing will be conducted at crowded places. More doctors and home guards will be deployed for testing, treatment and checks, he added. As there is an apprehension of Omicron entering the country, a close watch is being kept and the data of all domestic and international passengers is being collected. Focus is now on containment zones and clusters, he added.

Dharwad cluster: Genome sequencing finds no new variant

DHARWAD : In a huge relief, genome sequencing found no new variant in any of the 113 samples from SDM Medical College. As many as 306 students and a few medical staffers were infected with Covid-19 last week at SDM Medical College and Hospital in Dharwad. All the infected students are under treatment in their hostels, and staffers are quarantined in their houses. Among the infected, six had mild infection and the remaining asymptomatic. Students with mild symptoms have now recovered. Among the 306 infected, 113 swab samples were sent to a laboratory in Bengaluru for genome sequencing. Deputy Commissioner Nitesh Patil confirmed that no new variant was traced in these 113 samples. ENS

10 nursing students +ve in Shivamogga

SHIVAMOGGA: Ten nursing students of Nanjappa Nursing College have tested positive for Covid-19 in the last two days. All the 10 students returned from Kerala a week ago. DHP Dr Rajesh Suragihalli told TNIE that 54 students returned from Kerala a week ago. "As per the existing guidelines, they were tested after seven days. Of these, five tested positive on Tuesday and five more on Wednesday. None of the students had any symptoms," he said. The DHO said that the students returned from Kerala to write their exams. ENS

Political storm over 'murder plot' by Cong leader against BJP MLA

Vishwanath says he was tracked for 3 months; Gopalakrishna calls it ploy to tarnish image

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

An alleged plot to murder BJP MLA and BDA chairman S R Vishwanath created ripples in the state's political circles on Wednesday. Yelahanka MLA Vishwanath alleged that his political rival from the Congress, Gopalakrishna, has been 'persistently' plotting to bump him off. He has filed a complant against the Congress leader.

Home Minister Araga Jnanedra said the government has taken the issue seriously and security for the Bengaluru Development Authority chairman will be stepped up. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai is also said to have promised him a thorough probe.

At a press meet on Wednesday, Vishwanath claimed that Gopalakrishna is former CM M Veerappa Moily's 'Man Friday'. He alleged that as Gopalakrishna was pushed to the third position in two polls (2013 and 2018), the latter had been tracking his whereabouts for three months through his agents.

"But when Gopalakrishna's accomplice Kulla Devaraj wrote an apology letter to the CM, Home minister and the city police commissioner and delivered a copy to me as well, which I found outside my house around 7 pm on Tuesday, I realised the gravity of the issue and immediately spoke to the CM and the Home minister seeking necessary action", Vishwan-ath said. "Kulla Devaraja apologised for joining hands with Gopalakrishna owing to a financial crisis and confessed to his mistake", Vishwanath added. In a four-hour unedited video, Gopalakrishna, while speaking to Kulla Devaraja, allegedly insisted on eliminating Vishwanath by roping in 'supari' killers from Andhra Pradesh and says he is ready to pay Rs 5 crore. He also suggested creating an impression that the 'murder' was over a real estate feud, the BJP MLA said.

Vishwanath also appealed to the Congress to stand by him to check the trend of failed politicians planning to kill their rivals.

Rubbishing Vishwanath's allegations, Gopalakrishna termed it a ploy to tarnish his image. "Let the police trace the call list of Vishwanath and Kulla Devaraj for three months, and the truth will come out. In fact, Vishwanath was giving me trouble in an 8-acre land case", he alleged, suspecting the authenticity of the video.

"During the CCB interrogation, I have clarified that 80% of the video is fabricated. All allegations against me are false. I never ever tried to hatch a plot to kill Vishwanath. Kulla Devaraj is Vishwanath's right-hand man who had come to me with a land deal," Gopalakrishna alleged.

Earlier, KPCC president DK Shivakumar said they will not protect those who commit mistakes. He had also accused the BJP MLA of having rowdy elements as hangers-on.

Vishwanath hit back at Shivakumar and questioned him for "backing a person who hatched a murder plot". Shivakumar had not supported his own party MLA Akhanda Srinivasmurthy when his house was burnt, he said.

Vishwanath lodged a complaint against Gopalakrishna, Kulla Devaraj and others at the Rajanukunte police station and a non-cognisable report has been registered.

CM in Delhi today, to discuss booster jab for health workers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hubballi

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai will be leaving for New Delhi on Thursday to discuss with the Union government, booster doses for health and Covid frontline workers to protect them from the possible outbreak of another wave of the Covid-19 pandemic, by a new variant of the coronavirus.

The issue of vaccinating health and frontline workers came to the fore with the Omicron variant of the Covid-19 virus creating panic. The stand of the State government is that at least staffers at the forefront of the battle against the pandemic should get another dose of the vaccine, and Bommai is also pushing hard for it.

He told reporters here on Wednesday that he will be meeting Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya. "I will try to understand the scientific progress of administering the booster dose, and the Central government's recommendation on it. I will push for giving booster doses to health and frontline workers." Further, he said the issue of booster doses has been discussed at the Task Force meeting, and experts are of the unanimous opinion that health workers should take the third shot. He would take up these matters with Mandaviya as six months have already elapsed after their second vaccination shots.

I will try to understand the scientific progress of administering the booster dose, and the Central government's recommendation on it

Basavaraj Bommai, Chief Minister

Refusing to make vaccination compulsory and link it with government facilities, Bommai said there was no such consideration before the government, but the ongoing inoculation campaign would be intensified.

No need to panic: Bommai

Explaining the strict measures taken to contain the spread of Omicron, Bommai said there is strict vigil on international travellers at airports, and each one arriving at Bengaluru and Mangaluru international airports are being tested. Despite testing negative, they would in quarantine for seven days. No laxity will be shown on those entering the State, especially from the Kerala border, he added.

He appealed to people not to panic about Omicron. People are recovering economically and socially, and have resumed normal life. "We don't have any proposal to impose a lockdown," he clarified.

At a cluster in Dharwad where 306 tested positive, only two tested positive when checked again seven days later. None of them have serious symptoms and the situation is under control. About 7,000 people have already been tested in the area, with over 1,000 tested in a 500-metre radius of the cluster, Bommai said.

Manju's return to Congress fold imminent

UDAYA KUMAR B R @ Hassan

THE stage seems all set for BJP leader and former minister A Manju's return to the Congress. He had joined BJP three years ago and fought the 2019 General Elections on a BJP ticket in Gowda's home turf Hassan, but lost to JDS' Prajwal Revanna.

Sources revealed that Manju reportedly held a closed-door meeting with senior Congress leaders, including KPCC president D K Shivakumar Also, it may be noted that the Congress top brass finalised an MLC ticket for Manju's son Mantar Gowda for Kodagu local body seat.

Hassan DCC president Javagal Manjunath and former Congress MLC MA Gopalaswamy had accompanied Manju when he met Shivakumar at the latter's residence in Bengaluru. Other senior Congress leaders revealed that Shivakumar has assured that he will talk to Opposition leader Siddaramaiah, who is reportedly opposed to Manju's return to the Congress.

Coming down heavily on Hassan BJP MLA Preetam J Gowda, Manju claimed his son Mantar decided to contest on a Congress ticket after Preetam allegedly interfered with his candidature from Hassan.

JDS call on truck with BJP for MLC polls soon

BENGALURU: After former PM H D Deve Gowda met PM Modi on Tuesday, former CM H D Kumaraswamy on Wednesday said the party will soon take a call on going with the BJP in the Council polls. JDS, which has managed to get its member elected as Council chairman despite having only 13 seats in a 75-member house, may not go the whole hog and help the BJP win, as there is much at stake if it is identified closely with BJP. With the 2023 polls just months away the JDS might respond cautiously. ENS

BJP looks to woo Ahinda voters, limit Siddaramaiah's influence

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

IN a bid to checkmate Siddaramaiah's influence over the AHINDA (Kannada acronym for Minorities, Backward Classes and Dalits) voters, the BJP has begun the spadework in all Assembly constituencies and party mandals. Young leaders will reach out to backward communities with a list of welfare programmes released by both the Union and State governments. The party has 330 mandals in Karnataka and has conducted a series of meetings in this regard. The BJP's backward classes cell has selected 10 people belonging to dominant backward castes in each mandal and is in the process of educating them on the schemes and initiatives of the governments.

According to insiders, the next two years are crucial for the party in Karnataka as there are a string of elections in the run-up to the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. The state leadership feels that the focus should now be on organising the party to win the urban local body polls and the 2023 Assembly polls followed by the 2024 General Elections.

The BJP, which has held meetings of Backward Classes in Belagavi, Hubballi, Davanagere, Mysuru and Udupi, will hold brainstorming sessions in Bengaluru. In order to win over the Backward Classes and Dalits, the BJP has been highlighting that Siddaramaiah did not accept the socio-economic survey during his tenure as the CM. RDPR Minister K S Eshwarappa has said the government will accept the recommendations once the Backward Classes Commission submits its report.

Addressing a Backward Classes convention in Mysuru on Wednesday, Eshwarappa said Siddaramaiah should not mislead the Backward Classes and Dalits. Accusing the Congress leader of betraying JDS supremo H D Deve Gowda by quitting the regional party to join the Congress, he said, "He will quit Congress if he is asked to resign as Opposition leader.

"Siddaramaiah, who lost from Chamundeshwarai in 2018, has now joined hands with JDS MLA G T Devegowda to safeguard his political future as he fears defeat even in Badami. BJP has defeated Rahul Gandhi. And coming together of Siddaramaiah and G T Devegowda will not have any impact on BJP," he said.

Ready for 'war' with DKS: Ramesh

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

THE rivalry between KPCC president D K Shivakumar and former minister Ramesh Jarkiholi is set to escalate further as the latter has declared that he would like to have an "open war" between the two sides soon after the results of the MLC elections from local bodies' constituencies in the state are out on December 14.

When quizzed about Shivakumar calling him a blackmailer, Ramesh said, "I will give hard-hitting answers to each of his allegations with the results of the MLC election in my hands on December 14. I will hold an hour-long press conference on that day to discuss about Shivakumar and his family. I will describe in detail the issues related to my family and Shivakumar's family starting from 1985. Let there be a war between both sides."

The Gokak MLA was speaking to the media soon after his arrival from New Delhi, where he said he met the BJP top brass. Ramesh said he had the blessings of the top BJP leadership and that it had come to his rescue whenever he was in trouble. "It is only due to the blessings of the BJP high command that I am alive today. I would have been finished (politically) by now if I did not have the blessings and support of the BJP high command and the Sangh Parivar," he claimed. He did not react to any of the allegations which Shivakumar made against him in Belagavi on Tuesday and said that the State Congress should first protect its MLAs in Karnataka.

TMC looks to woo Cong leaders for K'taka entry

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

After making its foray into the political landscape in poll-bound Goa, speculation is rife that the Trinamool Congress (TMC) eyeing Karnataka which is due for Assembly polls in 2023. Though former minister M B Patil brushed aside as a pack of lies the media reports which claimed that Prashant Kishor had approached him on behalf of the TMC, murmurs were still doing the rounds.

Sources confirmed that a prominent leader, who frequently appears on state and national television, was approached by two senior leaders of the TMC with the promise of a prominent position in the new state unit proposed to be established by the TMC. The leader, however, is said to have remained non-committal.

A senior Congress leader who is holding a party position, confirmed that Prashant Kishor was indeed in touch with Congress leaders and that he was aware of it, but did not want to speak out on the issue right now. It is reliably learnt that some key leaders were approached by Prashant Kishore. Sources said that a political manager, who is a Legislative Council member, is on the TMC radar as the party is scouting for such leaders.

The TMC, which looked to be closely allied with the Congress till the West Bengal elections, has of late been baring its fangs against the Congress. The party has been going hammer and tongs against the Congress in Goa and a similar strategy appears to be in the works for Karnataka too. West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee, who was in Mumbai to meet NCP chief Sharad Pawar on Wednesday, even went to the extent of saying that the UPA is a thing of the past.

Secretariat staff want Belagavi session cancelled

Bengaluru: With the number of Covid cases rising and fears of Omicron looming, members of the Karnataka State Secretariat Employee' Association appealed to Assembly Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri to cancel the Belagavi session which is scheduled to be held from December 13 to 24. Association president Guruswamy stated Belagavi is one of the border districts where there is a high chance of a Covid outbreak. An official said many legislators especially seniors may skip the session. "Article 174(1) mandates that there should not be a gap of more than six months between sessions. The previous session was in September and there is still time to hold the next one. We cannot take risks at a time when Covid cases are rising," he said. ENS

Spl teams to conduct Covid tests at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha

Belagavi: The State Government will deploy special teams to conduct Covid tests during the 10-day winter session in Belagavi. The session will begin on December 13. During her visit to Suvarna Vidhan Soudha on Thursday, P Hemalatha, Secretary, Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms, advised the authorities to ensure that all Covid norms are followed by those attending the session. Hemalatha said that the officials must keep all the facilities ready at least two days prior to the start of the session. Assembly Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri will review the preparations on Friday. He will also be holding a meeting of officials at 10.30 am at the Suvarna Vidhana Soudha before holding a press conference later. ENS

'Focus is now on tax evaders'

BUT well-known economist Prof RS Deshpande was cautiously optimistic. "It is true that GST collection in the middle range, which is larger, has improved because of the improvement in business. But GST collection from the higher-end real estate sector is not on the expected lines and it will need a greater boost to grow. "

Member of the GST Consultative Committee, state government, BT Manohar said, "Tax compliance is encouraging. Relaxation on work from home, festival season, a reasonable increase in business and service activity, initiation of enforcement, steps to reform compliance in filing of returns due and improvement in purchasing options by consumers are some of the factors for improved GST collection. Tax reforms for ease of doing business will pave way for greater economic development. Efforts to detect evasion have helped."

Commercial Tax Commissioner C Shikha said commercial tax department sleuths and enforcement teams are focusing on evaders and incidents of evasion.

Industrialist J Crasta, who formerly headed KASSIA and FKCCI, said, "GDP growth for Q1 was 20.1 per cent and Q2 it was 8.4 per cent. It is expected to grow at 9.6 per cent for Q3. Also the compliance rate has gone up as artificial intelligence is being used in the GST portal. That is the reason for last month's collection of Rs 1.3 lakh crore at the all-India level."

BOOST FOR LANGUAGE

Kannada learning too goes online with 20-minute modules

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOR those looking to learn speaking and writing Kannada, help is at hand. The Kannada Development Authority has come up with 20-minute modules called 'Kannada Nudi Kalike Paata' to reach out to non-Kannadigas and also to those who want to learn the language anywhere across the globe. The language will be taught using English for transliteration so that people can understand and pronounce better.

The 30 modules which the KDA has developed in association with the Central Institute of Indian Languages, Mysuru, will be uploaded on KDA website soon. Speaking to TNIE, Authority chairman T S Nagabharana said they have developed two modules for now which will be uploaded on their website. Starting from the basics, each module is about 15-20 minute duration and can be accessed from anywhere.

Depending on public feedback, the other modules will be improved. "In the next two to three months, all the modules will be uploaded. We will share this on social media platforms, through which we can reach more people. Each module is designed in such a way that one can learn reading and writing Kannada within 30 days," he said.

Nagabharana said that after four to five modules, one can become confident enough to converse with ease. Kannada and Culture Minister Sunil Kumar launched the link on Wednesday in Bengaluru.

Congress slams move to shift ISRO programme from B'luru to Gujarat

ENS@ Bengaluru

Congress leaders on Wednesday staged a protest outside the Indian Space Research Organization (ISRO) office in the city demanding that the space agency drop the proposal to shift the Indian Human Space Flight Programme to Gujarat from Bengaluru.

KPCC president D K Shivakumar urged all parties and organisations, including Kannada forums, to join the protest against the proposal. Shivakumar had earlier written to PM Narendra Modi and CM Basavaraj Bommai in this regard. "Karnataka is not just the IT hub, but it is also a technology hub and ISRO is headquartered here. They are now shifting the Human Space Flight Programme to Gujarat," Shivakumar said. After the Congress opposed the move, ISRO Chairman K Sivan is defending the government, he said.

Shivakumar said he has "some internal information" about the project and said they should not shift it from Bengaluru. He said Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha members from the BJP should meet Modi and ensure that the project remains in Karnataka. Shivakumar also warned the government that they will launch agitations across the state if the proposal is not dropped.

" If it happens (the proposal materialises), the Kannadigas will feel that the Central Government is ignoring, betraying and giving scant respect to the feelings of the local people," Shivakumar had stated in his letter to the CM.

Environmentalist and Padma Shri Tulsi Gowda will inaugurate the national theatre festival -- Bahuroopi-2021 -- to be held in Mysuru between December 10 and 19. The 20th edition of Bahuroopi which was supposed to be held in February this year was postponed by nearly 10 months due to Covid-19 and its subsequent lockdowns

HC quashes FIR against I-T officials

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court has quashed the First Information Report (FIR) and subsequent proceedings initiated against Income Tax (I-T) Department officials by the city police, who had sought a diary seized by the central agency from the bedroom of Congress MLC K Govindaraj in 2016, on the pretext of investigation.

According to the I-T Department, the diary had recordings of various transactions with abbreviations and amounts against each of the abbreviations.

"It is rather shocking that both the complainant and the police want only the diary and no other document for investigation of the allegations of 15 offences. It cannot but be held that the Indiranagar police were acting at the behest of the complainant to secure the diary by invoking Section 91 of the CrPC. Since the FIR could not have been registered against the petitioners in view of the specific bar under Section 293 of the Income Tax Act, the aftermath of such registration would be rendered without authority of law", the court said.

IN THE HC

After the FIR was registered, the police issued notice to the I-T officials to hand over the diary which was seized during the search and also wanted them to divulge the names of those who had conducted the search and seized the documents. Hence, I-T officials knocked on the doors of the court.

Allowing the petition filed by the Director General (Investigation), Principal Director of Income Tax (Investigation) and Principal Commissioner of Income Tax (Central), I-T Department, Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order quashing the FIR dated February 28, 2017 and all further proceedings.

GANG OF 7 HELD FOR ROBBERY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Halasuru Gate police have arrested a gang of seven people who had allegedly robbed 5.593 kg of gold ingots worth Rs 2.56 crore from a bullion trader. The arrested are Mohammed Farhan (23) of Sarvajna Nagar, Mohammed Hussain (35) of Nagawara Main Road, Mohammed Arif (34) and Azam (39), both from Venkateshpura, Shahid Ahmed (24) of Kushal Nagar, Umesh (54) of RT Nagar and Suhail Baig (24) of Govindapura.

Police said complainant Siddeshwar Haribha Shinde, who runs Samskar Enterprises in Nagarthapet, is a bullion trader. He and his staffer Suraj Srikanth Jadhav were bringing the gold from Attica Gold Company at Balekundri Circle, around 8.30 pm on November 19. While passing Cubbonpet, two miscreants on a bike attacked Shinde with a sword and sped away with the bag.

"Investigations revealed that one of the accused was working as a watchman at the Attica Gold Company and he was aware that Shinde used to buy gold in large quantities. On the day of the crime, he had informed the other accused that Shinde had come to buy gold," the police added.

The police recovered 4,984 gram of gold worth Rs 2.25 crore and are investigating to recover the remaining 609.750 gram. "Among the accused, two have criminal cases, including murder and kidnap cases," the police said.

The secured creditor will exercise all or any of the rights detailed under sub-section (4)(a) and (b) of Section 13, the extract of which is given here below to convey the seriousness of this issue:

13(4)- In case the Borrower/Guarantor fails to discharge liability in full within the period specified in sub-section (2), the secured creditor may take recourse to one or more of the following measures to recover his secured debt, namely;

(a) Take possession of the secured assets of the Borrower/Guarantor including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realizing the secured asset;

(b) Take over the management of the business of the Borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realizing the secured asset:

Provided that the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale shall be exercised only where the substantial part of the business of the Borrower is held as security for the debt;

Provided further that where the management of whole of the business or part of the business is severable, the secured creditor shall take over the management of such business of the borrower which is relatable to the security for the debt; and under other applicable provisions of the said Act.

Your attention is invited to provisions of sub-section (8) of Section 13 of the Act, in respect of time available, to redeem the secured assets.

You are also put on notice that in terms of section 13(13) the Borrower/Guarantor shall not transfer by way of sale, lease or otherwise the said secured assets detailed in Schedule B hereunder without obtaining written consent of the secured creditor. It is further brought to your notice that any contravention of this statutory injunction/ restraint, as provided under the said Act, is an offence and if for any reason, the secured assets are sold or leased out in the ordinary course of business, the sale proceeds or income realized shall be deposited with the secured creditor. In this regard you shall have to render proper accounts of such realization / income.

This notice of Demand is without prejudice to and shall not be construed as waiver of any other rights or remedies which the secured creditor may have including further demands for the sums found due and payable by you.

This is without prejudice to any other rights available to the secured creditor under the Act and/or any other law in force.

Please comply with the demand under this notice and avoid all unpleasantness. In case of Non- compliance, further needful action will be resorted to, holding you liable for all costs and consequence.

AIADMK formalises dual leadership

Advantage for OPS; Move seen as attempt to nullify efforts of Sasi to gain influence in party

T MURUGANANDHAM @ Chennai

THE AIADMK on Wednesday formalised a dual leadership for the party by making a vital amendment to the bylaws in the party constitution. Now, the coordinator and joint coordinator will be elected directly by the party's primary members. As per earlier bylaw No.20 (a) (2), they were to be elected by the general council.

The amendment puts an end to speculation that joint coordinator Edappadi K Palaniswami is trying to bring the party under a single leadership and gives an upper hand to coordinator O Panneerselvam. The move is also seen as an attempt to nullify the efforts of former CM J Jayalalithaa's aide VK Sasikala to gain influence in the AIADMK. In the time of party founder MG Ramachandran too, the general secretary was to be elected directly by the primary members (the coordinator and joint coordinator now lead the party instead of the general secretary).

The party's executive committee, which met at the AIADMK headquarters here, passed a special resolution to this effect. Rule No.43 gives the general council powers to create new bylaws and remove existing ones.

Similarly, Rule No.45 gives the coordinator and joint coordinator powers to relax or grant exemptions from bylaws. However, under these bylaws, Rule No.20 (a) (2), which mandates the election of coordinator and joint coordinator by the primary members by a single vote, cannot be altered.

According to the amendment, members can elect the coordinator and joint coordinator as a pair by casting a single vote. Asked who the members are, party spokesperson D Jayakumar said all those who have been members of the party for at least five years may vote. If more than one pair of candidates contest for the posts of coordinator and joint coordinator, there will be elections. Otherwise, the single pair will be elected unopposed.

A release from the AIADMK headquarters here said the amendments were made considering demands from the party's primary members and after getting the views of all executive committee members.

BIG PUSH FOR IRRIGATION

Upper Bhadra Project set to get nat'l project status

RAMU PATIL @ Bengaluru

IN a big push for the major lift irrigation project designed to irrigate 2.25 lakh hectares, the Upper Bhadra Project is set to get the national project status in the next few days. That will ensure 60 per cent funding from the Centre for the project.

The Central Water Commission's High Powered Steering Committee for implementation of National Projects is scheduled to take it up in its meeting on December 6. The proposal is being placed before the Steering Committee after it is cleared at different levels and, after the committee's nod, it will be placed before the Union Cabinet for approval.

"It is a very important meeting. We are fully confident of getting the national project status for the project," Water Resources Minister Govind Karjol told TNIE on Wednesday.

Karjol and Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai had taken the matter up with the Centre several times. The CM, who will be in New Delhi on Thursday, is likely to again take it up with Union Jal Shakti Minister. The project envisages lifting of 17.40 tmcft of water in the first stage from the Tunga river to Bhadra reservoir and lifting of 29.90 tmcft of water in the second stage from Bhadra reservoir to irrigate 2,25,515 hectares by micro-irrigation in Chitradurga, Davanagere, Tumakuru and parts of Chikkamagaluru. The project also envisages six tmcft of water for filling 367 tanks.

Sources said getting the national project status will give a big boost for its implementation, that too at a time when the state is facing a financial crunch to take up big projects. So far, Karnataka has spent Rs 4,800 crore on the Rs 16,125.48-crore project. Once, the national project status is given, 60 per cent of it will be reimbursed by the Centre, sources said.

THE PROJECT

To irrigate 2.25 lakh hectares in Chikkamagaluru, Chitradurga, Tumakuru and Davangere

Estimated cost: ₹16,125.48 crore (excluding the cost of laterals in the DRIP irrigation system)

Cost of completed work: ₹4,865.77 crore

River/tributary: Tunga and Bhadra river

Total population to be benefited: 74,26,485

Rape case: Ex-priest's jail term cut

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kochi

THE Kerala High Court on Wednesday reduced the sentence of 20 years' rigorous imprisonment imposed on former priest at St Sebastian Church, Kottiyoor, Robin Vadakkamcheril, a convict in a case related to raping and impregnating a minor girl, to 10 years. The court also upheld the fine of ₹ 1,00,000 imposed on the accused for the offence under Section 5(j)(ii) read with Section 6 — both related to aggravated penetrative sexual assault — of the Pocso Act.

The Pocso court in Thalassery had awarded 20 years' imprisonment and imposed a fine of ₹3 lakh under IPC Section 376 (2)(f) and provisions of the Pocso Act.

While disposing of the appeal, Justice R Narayana Pisharadi altered the conviction of the accused for the offence under Section 376(2)(f) of the IPC to conviction under Section 376(1) of IPC (rape). He said Section 376(2)(f) was invoked when a person, who is a relative, guardian or teacher, or a person in a position of trust or authority towards the woman, committed rape on such woman. Just because the accused was the priest/vicar of the local church, it could not be found that he had held any position of trust or authority towards the victim girl.

The court said since the accused had made the victim pregnant, the offence under Section 5(j)(ii) of the Pocso Act is also attracted and conviction of him by the trial court for that offence is liable to be confirmed.

Tiger census to be taken up in Jan

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Forest Department will undertake the much-awaited field survey for the national tiger census in January. In the meantime, forest officials have intensified the camera trap assessment for the census.

As per the first drafted schedule, the field survey and the camera trap assessments were to be done in parallel. But it was halted, first due to shortage of cameras, and then because of technical issues on the M-Stripe App, which was to be used for the field survey. And most importantly, everything had to be rescheduled because of the untimely and unprecedented rainfall.

Forest officials said a decision has been taken that camera trap assessment will be completed first for which 900 cameras are already in place. "Since the assessment is crucial, the exercise is being done first instead of wasting time waiting for rectification of the M-Stripe App," an official said.

The App is to be used as per orders of the Ministry of Environment, Forests and Climate Change, and is aimed to cut down human intervention as far as possible.

"But it has many errors and bugs which needs to be corrected. We have had several rounds of meetings with the ministry to iron out the issues and make corrections to the App. It is due to the App that the census exercise has not yet started. The ministry said that it will be ready in another 10-15 days (likely mid-December). But trials will be needed to be done on the ground before the App can be used," the official said.

Man missing for 13 years buried by kin, walks back home three months later

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Tumakuru

IN a bizarre incident, an old man whom family members had presumed dead and conducted the final rites three months ago, surfaced on Tuesday at Chikkamaluru village in Madhugiri taluk.

While the family members were happy that he had returned home alive, police officers concerned are clueless as to whose body they had dispatched after conducting the postmortem three months ago.

In fact, 13 years ago, Nagarajappa, an alcoholic, went missing from the village and his family members had almost lost hope of seeing him. But on September 18, 2021, a security guard at St John's Hospital in Bengaluru had rescued an ailing person from a nearby garden and admitted him to hospital, where he had passed away.

Nagarajappa at his home at Chikkamaluru village in Madhugiri taluk

Interestingly, Nagarajappa's daughter Nethravati, a staff nurse at St John's, noticed the body and took it to be her missing father, as there was a strong resemblance. After the postmortem and an FIR by Koramangala police as it was an unnatural death, Nethravati claimed it as her father's body on September 19, and took it home and conducted the final rites. But to their surprise, the 'dead' Nagarajappa (70) returned home on Tuesday. Besides the family members, residents of the village also recognised him as none other than Nagarajappa.

The hospital authorities clarified that it was only after police intervention and staff nurse Nethravathi claiming it as her father's body, that it had been released.

Now, Koramangala police are puzzled about whose body was dispatched, and cremated on September 19.

DRIVER SAVES PILGRIMS ON TIRUMALA GHAT

Tirumala: A massive landslide badly damaged the ghat road leading to Tirumala at four places, forcing the Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD) to close the road on Wednesday. However, no casualties were reported as an alert RTC bus driver stopped the vehicle just a few minutes before the landslide after noticing boulders rolling down. The landslide occurred at the 14.9 km milestone of the 16-km up ghat road. The second turning, where the incident happened, is popularly known as Bhashyakarla Sannidhi. Though pilgrims are being allowed to proceed to Tirumala by road, the TTD urged those who booked their darshan tickets not to visit the hill shrine in the next three days, promising to provide them alternative slots. ENS

'We're being oppressed with equality'

KUNAL tweeted, "The shows have been cancelled following threats". "They've (shows) been cancelled for two reasons. Firstly, we didn't get special permission to seat 45 people in the venue that can seat more. Secondly, threats have been made to shut down the venue if I were to ever perform there. I guess this is also part of the Covid protocol & new guidelines. I suppose I am seen as a variant of the virus now."

On the cancellation of Faruqui's show, Kamra tweeted, "We can find solace in the fact that the ruling class is at least trying to oppress with equality. Maybe if we continue down the road of equal oppression, we would get to a point of equal liberation, in a post-climate change era."

The police had denied permission to Faruqui to hold the show last Sunday, terming him a 'controversial figure'. The police had also stated that Faruqui's show may create chaos and lead to law and order problems.

'Vidyanjali can be historic'

Bengaluru: Prof M R Doreswamy, Chancellor, PES University, and adviser, education reforms (cabinet rank), Government of Karnataka, has welcomed the Vidyanjali initiative, launched by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, to tag universities to government schools across the country to leverage their education services. "Adoption of government schools for development was my first recommendation to the government of Karnataka. It was implemented as a government programme in the budget for 2020-21 in April, 2020, well before the NEP was notified in July, 2020," he said. He also appealed the PM to involve all elected representatives across the country to adopt government schools under Vidyanjali to take the initiative to the next level and make it a truly historic and social movement. ENS

National Wildlife Board to assess impact of Hubballi-Ankola rly line

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday directed the National Board for Wildlife (NBWL) to make an independent assessment of the impact of the proposed Hubballi-Ankola Railway Line on the wildlife and submit a report.

A division bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum passed the order after hearing a batch of public interest litigations against the project.

In the order, the court noted that the railway line has to be constructed in the forest area. There have been contentions relating to the viability of the project in the wildlife area. It is submitted that the Karnataka State Board for Wildlife reiterated its earlier decision and has recommended the project to the National Board for Wildlife for consideration, it said.

"We understand that development works should be carried out. However, we have to assess the impact on the wildlife and effort should be made to protect the wildlife. So, we direct the NBWL to carry out the survey of the area involving the project and assess the impact of the railway line in the forest area," the court said.

INDIAN EXPRESS IS NOT AN INDUSTRY. IT IS A MISSION.

— Ramnath Goenka

WHAT IS IT THAT MAKES INDIANS DO BETTER ABROAD

The news of Parag Agrawal being appointed the new CEO of Twitter was expectedly celebrated across India. With his elevation to the top post in the microblogging site, more than five Indian-origin executives are now at the helm of the world's leading tech companies. Many others head banks, FMCG firms, multinational companies and excel even in academia. It now does not surprise anyone when India-born people, after graduating from IITs, IIMs and other similar institutions, go abroad in search of jobs and later rise to the top echelons. So what makes Indians succeed abroad? While all the credit goes to Agrawal himself for his achievement, there are some factors that put the likes of him on the path of success, among them Indian values, hard work and perseverance. The contribution of India's higher education institutions too cannot be discounted. Although the IITs and IIMs are not in the world's top 100 universities, they seem to lay the foundation for their students to achieve more and succeed in foreign shores.

But more than that, the working conditions abroad and the society in general seem to help Indians flower and reach their true potential. To begin with, there is far less peer pressure outside India. Young Indian professionals don't have to look over their shoulders and worry about what their family or friends have to say or be told to act and behave in a particular manner. Besides this, most companies, universities and workplaces abroad reward innovation, analytical thinking and an independent mind, values and attributes that are generally not encouraged here. A 'Yes boss' culture and conformist work ethic are not necessarily the path to success in foreign soil. Free and fair thinking and challenging conventional approaches, albeit within limits, are not discouraged or penalised; on the contrary they are even appreciated. Such a working atmosphere seems to extract the best out of hard-working and ambitious Indians. It is natural to hope that Agrawal would take Twitter to newer heights. In the meantime, it will not be out of place to expect an assembly line of Indian-origin CEOs.

THE JURY IS STILL OUT ON JAGAN AT HALFTIME

There are many parameters to assess the performance of a government. Economic surveys and CAG reports help us gain a bird's-eye view of the progress achieved. As he completes half of his tenure, Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Y S Jagan Mohan Reddy's report card isn't outstanding but neither is it poor. An objective analysis shows his greatest success was in handling the Covid pandemic and implementation of welfare schemes such as Amma Vodi (incentivising mothers to send their wards to school) and YSR Aarogyasri (health insurance for all).

On the other hand, his government's record of managing finances, its penchant for controversies and beef with the judiciary could be seen as negatives. From an economic standpoint, the GSDP growth rate was 12.73% in 2019–20 and the advanced estimate for 2020–21 was –2.58% at constant prices and 1.58% at current prices—which the economic survey released earlier this year termed significant in the context of the global slowdown and Covid-19. Similarly, it found Amma Vodi helped BPL families during this critical time. The CAG report tabled in the Assembly last week, though, red-flagged off-budget borrowings and unsustainable debt. The state has borrowed around ₹3 lakh crore since the YSRC came to power but then it argues that it has only availed of the FRBM Act relaxation given by the Centre. The CAG acknowledged that the state has fared better than others in terms of expenditure on social services.

Critics have slammed the government for its fiscal profligacy. Their argument holds water in normal circumstances. In extraordinary times like these when many have lost jobs, how the government should respond is a debatable question. Going forward, however, the government will have to roll back some schemes to bring expenditure under control. There is simply no other way. The three-capital issue is another major challenge in Jagan's remaining tenure. He has pulled back for now in view of the legal tangles but bringing it again is an uphill task. He could also do well to rein in his cadre to avoid incidents like the attack on the TDP office. The strong tend to be aggressive but in resisting the urge lies real power and that alone can command respect in a democracy.

FAREWELL TO RAM RANI, WHO EXPLAINED INDIA TO THE WEST AND TO US

RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE

Twelve days ago, on November 20, Yvette Claire Rosser, breathed her last. She would have been 70 next January. Better known as Ram Rani in Indian circles—a name given to her by her guru, Neem Karoli Baba—Rosser first visited India in 1970. As she told me the story, it was during the heyday of counterculture in the US. The 1967/1968 "revolutions" in Paris, the US and India were very much a part of the ethos of the youth, as were drugs and The Beatles.

Rosser was just 18, a bit of a hippie then. After high school, she and her young boyfriend were wandering in the Himalayas, when the latter suddenly died on her, from no apparent or visible cause. "It was the scariest thing that had ever happened to me," was how she recalled it, "the man I loved was dying in my arms and I couldn't do a thing about it."

Having seen death so close and so inexplicable, that too when so young, Rosser's perspective on life changed forever. She spent the next four years trying to understand what had happened by praying, meditating, and seeking a guru. She found the latter in Neem Karoli Baba, meeting him in 1973, just before he passed away.

Baba received her at Kainchi Dham, in Uttarakhand, the place where Steve Jobs, Ram Dass and several other famous Americans met him, and which Mark Zuckerberg later visited. It was Baba who gave Rosser both solace and direction, asking her to study further and try to explain the true meaning of Hinduism.

With this in mind, Rosser enrolled at the University of Texas at Austin (UTA) as an undergraduate. There she met the famous Indian novelist, Raja Rao, who had been invited to teach philosophy at UTA. Raja Rao was somewhat of a legend on campus, with overflowing classes held in large auditoriums. Rosser took her B.A. in Indian Languages and Literatures in the South Asian Department. She also became one of the inner members of Raja Rao's circle, especially after he married one of her close friends, Susan.

It was Raja Rao who helped her secure admission in the graduate programme of UTA when she was targeted for being "too Hindu". He wrote a glowing letter of recommendation straight to the dean of the College of Liberal Arts: "Of all the students I have taught at The University of Texas at Austin, which were thousands, Yvette Rosser understood India the best."

That was December 1992. The same year that the Babri Masjid fell. Rosser faced increasing hostility when she tried to explain or defend Hinduism. As one of the leading South Asian studies professors warned her, she "should never report anything positive" about the Sangh Parivar or she "would never find a job in American academia". It took over a decade for her PhD dissertation, "Curriculum as Destiny: Forging National Identity in India, Pakistan, and Bangladesh", to be accepted. It was a 600-page study on the anti-India and anti-Hindu indoctrination or slanting in South Asian history textbooks.

During her studies, Rosser discovered that her own experience and understanding of India were very different from what was taught at US universities: "Many scholars who specialise in 'South Asian Studies' have a very negative, preconceived notion of the 'Hindu revivalist movement' in particular, and strangely enough, towards Hinduism and Indic civilisation in general, especially as 'Hindu India' interfaces with modernity in the socio-political realm."

Very perceptively, she adds, "At conferences at American universities on the religion and history of South Asia, 'Hindu' seems to be used mainly as a derogatory term. The modern Hindu cultural-political movement is referenced by its detractors as 'Hindu Nationalism', 'Hindu Chauvinism', 'Hindu Fundamentalism', 'Right-wing Hinduism', 'Hindu Fanaticism', 'Obscurantist Hinduism', 'Hindu Fascists', and other pejorative terms. The term 'Saffron', the traditional ochre colour of a Hindu holy man's robes, is used as a retrogressive, pilloried classification, a blanket term inferring all of the above named negative characteristics". Rosser found herself branded, accused of "cavorting with 'Hindu-Nazis'" though she clearly saw herself as left of centre, a "Peacenik social activist, wannabe Hippie tree-hugger" and a Gandhian ("Puzzling Dimensions and Theoretical Knots in my Graduate School Research").

> She also spent months researching in Pakistan and Bangladesh. Reading her work serves as a warning to us of what we should not become—an inverse, opposite and reactive image of our neighbours

I met Rosser through Raja Rao in 1998 when I was teaching at IIT-Delhi. She was visiting India with her two sons, Jai Hanuman and Amar Josef. Her eldest, Krystina Shakti, I would meet later, when I went to UTA. I felt close to Rosser at once, as if she were an elder sister. She was large, garrulous, funny, irreverent and irrepressible. A very strange sort of academic at first glance being so open, frank and earthy, I began to see how she had a very sharp and clear mind and was widely read. She had spent months researching in Pakistan and Bangladesh but she was utterly without bigotry or hatred for any group of people. Though such an India expert, she never got a tenured position given the prevailing prejudices in the US academy.

During the last decade she spent more and more time in India. I invited her to Raja Rao's centenary symposium at Jawaharlal Nehru University, which I had organised, in 2008. She arrived late but took over the session, regaling the audience with personal anecdotes and deep insights both into Raja Rao's works and Advaita Vedanta. I last met her in 2018 in Delhi. We had tea and conversation. Little did I know I would never see her again.

In closing this tribute to her, I can't help recalling her research travelogues in Pakistan. At the beginning of one, she says, that the "Ideology of Pakistan could be compared to a three-legged stool, supported by the pillars of (1) Islam, (2) the Two-Nation Theory, and (3) the fear of Hindu domination". Reading her work serves as a warning to us of what we should not become—an inverse, opposite and reactive image of our neighbours. Ram Rani's work shows us that the closing of the Indian mind is a very real danger. It would be a sad thing indeed if we allowed this to happen.

HOW THE TATA GROUP TRANSFORMED ITSELF AFTER 1991

R GOPALAKRISHNAN
Best-selling author and corporate advisor

BUILDING BUSINESSES

In the last three columns, I reviewed the immediate and the after-response of Hindustan Unilever to liberalisation, as also the immediate response of Tata. Here is the after-response of Tata.

The Tata group seized the opportunities presented by the reforms and embarked on a remarkable journey that has transformed it into a vibrant and global business house. Tata executed a programme of transformation after liberalisation through four welding mechanisms: The setting up of the Group Executive Office (GEO), a common and unified brand, an explicit code of conduct that had been implicit all the earlier years and a set of operating requirements for companies that used the brand.

The group increased ownership in the major companies and re-established Tata Sons as the focal point, an opposite action to what J R D Tata had done earlier to comply with the MRTP (Monopolies and Restrictive Trade Practices) legislation. Where increase of shareholding was not possible, as in the case of the Associated Cement Company, Tata shareholding was sold.

Some group companies were divested from Tata. There were multiple companies in the same market space, and, over time, attempts were made to rationalise them. Public sector company CMC Ltd was acquired by TCS and later merged into Tata Consultancy.

The serial mention of these moves does not mean that the decisions were easily accepted. Each one required a de novo debate with directors of different boards; these were perceived at the time to be a 'non-Tata way' of solving a problem, and there followed a sequence of cajoling, determination and grit while implementing.

The external impression was that Tata was less nimble than others, more resistant to change and extremely set in its ways. Unless Tata companies were benchmarked against the brightest and the best, the probability of change was going to be low. Ratan Tata observed candidly, "We have yet to seek excellence in all that we do. We hang a picture slightly crooked and live with it for 10 years; this should bother us the first time we see it and keep on bothering us until it is set right."

The Tata group adopted the Tata Business Excellence Model (TBEM), based on the quality improvement framework developed for the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Awards. In February 1995, the first batch of assessors met at the Tata Management Training Centre for in-depth training on the Baldrige model. They assessed 12 Tata companies and the average score was an abysmal 215 out of a maximum score of 1,000 (now, the major Tata companies have crossed 600). The journey was to be long, painful and exhausting, but rewarding.

The first winner of the JRD Quality Values Award for performance within the TBEM framework was Tata Steel in 2000. The company went on to win the Deming Prize in 2008, and then the coveted Grand Deming Prize in 2012. Indeed, TBEM set the tone and created the foundation for a critical transformational exercise in the group. It has also been the glue in binding the group together and enhancing the Tata brand. The opening up of the economy, the removal of unnecessary restrictions relating to investments and the relaxation in foreign exchange rules created new capabilities within Tata companies.

> The external impression was that Tata was less nimble than others, more resistant to change and extremely set in its ways. Unless Tata companies were benchmarked against the brightest and the best, the probability of change was going to be low

Two are particularly worth mentioning. The first is the dramatic restructuring undertaken by Tata Steel during the 1990s. Within a decade, Tata Steel had been transformed by downsizing the workforce to less than half of its starting size. The plan was implemented with empathy and humaneness, symbolic of how to do disagreeable things in an agreeable way. The plants were modernised with new technologies and a management mindset was instilled, one which could dream and execute big transformations.

The second was to press ahead with a Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) IPO. This set free an aggressive TCS, then ranked beyond 30 among global IT players in 2000, to break into the top 10 in the world. The company had worked with Professor Pankaj Ghemawat, but, in a sense, stumbled onto this audacious goal through its internal brainstorming. The company set about its task through a huge organisational transformation to help its people think globally about customers, work processes and quality.

Had the MRTP continued, Tata could not have implemented its TBEM or the Code of Conduct. The adherence of Tata companies to both the TBEM process and the Tata Code of Conduct was permanently enshrined in the brand equity and Business Promotion Agreement. Each Tata company subscribed to this agreement in order to secure the right to use the Tata brand. This played an immense role in presenting to the world Tata products and services that stand for performance and trust. Beginning with Tata Tea's acquisition of Tetley in 2000, the group made several significant overseas acquisitions.

This eventually led to the formation of the Tata Group Innovation Forum in 2007, and the celebration of the group's pioneering instincts through annual Tata Innovista Awards. The group's increasing number of patent applications reflected the rapid progress that the group was making.

The unshackling of the Indian economy led to dramatic changes within the group, though its core ethos and emphasis on ethical business practices and its commitment to the communities in which it operates did not change. The journey since the reforms process began has been exciting for the Tata group, which has rejuvenated existing businesses, entered new ones, aggressively expanded in the overseas markets and launched breakthrough products. The companies in the Tata group are now building Brand India across the globe.

Delay is the culprit

This is with reference to Long-term measures needed to keep veggie prices stable (Dec 1). The prices of vegetables shot up fourfold due to the unseasonal rains that ruined the crops and created a shortage. This could have been avoided had the long-term solutions such as Operation Green TOP announced by the Union government were in place. The consumers and farmers could have been benefited in such a dire situation. Delay is the culprit in this regard.

NFHS-5 is encouraging

Preserving the gains revealed by the NFHS-5 (Dec 1) is a well-written and hopeful article. As the author points out, Indian women have gradually improved their status. This survey result is an encouraging sign. Awareness and openness to change are the keys to their empowerment.

Poor quality of debates

It is needless to say that the quality of debates are not good in Parliament and Assemblies. Instead of debate, discussion and dialogue, it is disruption, din and disturbance that is currently happening. This is the assessment of common people who are closely watching how their elected legislators are doing their duties. It has become necessary for the elected representatives to revisit how parliamentary proceedings were conducted in the past so that the same good practices can be adhered to.
K Jayanthi, Chennai

Don't stall proceedings

This is with reference to 12 opposition RS MPs suspended, expect stormy session today (Nov 30). While opposition parties constantly complain about the lack of debate on important bills passed in Parliament, their lack of cooperation and deliberate stalling of the proceedings in the House is dismaying. They engage in sloganeering the moment the House assembles. Clearly, their tantrums and behaviour led to the suspension. The Rajya Sabha Chairman Venkaiah Naidu said that there was no sense of remorse on part of the suspended members.

People still suffer in Af

This is with reference to Taliban abduct, kill 100 former Afghan officers (Dec 1). Even as the Taliban is trying to claim legitimacy, it is unable to overcome its terrorist tag. The recent abduction and execution of 100 former Afghan officers is a case in point. This bloodthirsty mentality of the Taliban is even stopping humanitarian supplies from democratic countries. As a result, the people have to put up with extreme poverty and malnutrition. The Taliban is squarely responsible for this.

Suspended MPs continue to protest as Centre says nothing doing until they apologise; both Houses likely to witness further disruptions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

UPROAR in Rajya Sabha over the suspension of 12 MPs is expected to continue this week, with the Opposition determined to continue pressing for revocation of the suspension order and the Centre adamant that MPs should apologise.

Rajya Sabha saw repeated adjournments on Wednesday, with Chairman Venkaiah Naidu saying that suspended members have no remorse. He reiterated that these MPs did everything unparliamentary and there is no question of revoking the suspension. "It is a sacrilege of the House and what can we do?" he said.

Sources said the Upper House is expected to witness similar scenes in the coming days.

Suspended MPs sat in protest at the Gandhi statue, while MPs from various parties joined them. It turned out to be an embarrassing situation when Lok Sabha Chairman Om Birla led a Mongolian parliamentary delegation on a tour of the Parliament compound and could not take the visiting delegation to the Gandhi statue where suspended MPs sat with placards saying 'democracy killed' and 'save democracy'. The suspended MPs were quick to call out and wave at Birla, who briefly smiled and waved back.

A senior Congress leader said there has been no effort from the Centre to break the logjam. "We have repeatedly requested the Chair and even Leader of Opposition Mallikarjun Kharge has written to him but the Chair is not ready to accept it. We will continue with our demand. There is no question of apologising."

As the House met post lunch, Kharge again raised the matter but the Chair asked Union Water Resources Minister GS Shekhawat to table the Dam Safety Bill, 2019 before adjourning for the day.

The Lok Sabha also continued to witness disruptions with the Opposition raising slogans and displaying placards. Congress MP Manish Tewari brought an adjournment motion to discuss the issue of inflation. TRS MPs too raised slogans on farmers' issues. Birla's efforts to pacify agitating members went in vain. In brief business conducted during the day, Lok Sabha passed the "Reproductive Technology (Regulation) Bill, 2020".

Earlier in the day, Prime Minister Narendra Modi met ministers Rajnath Singh, Amit Shah, Nirmala Sitharaman, Pralhad Joshi to discuss the situation in Parliament.

TRS stand proof of our rise in Telangana: BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

WITH the Telangana Rashtra Samithi (TRS) joining the Opposition ranks in the ongoing winter session, BJP has claimed that the change in the stance of the party is on account of the rise of the saffron outfit in the state. The TRS from the beginning of this session has adopted an aggressive stand and attacked the government on agrarian issues.

"The behaviour of TRS in Parliament is understandable since the BJP is gaining grounds in Telangana. The BJP is reaching out to the people in the state by taking Prime Minister Narendra Modi's message to empower the poor by implementing welfare schemes on the ground," Tarun Chugh, BJP's national general-secretary and in-charge for Telangana, told this newspaper.

The TRS MPs have been holding placards and raising slogans on farmers' issues to take on the government. The stance of the ruling party in Telangana is in line with the Opposition parties which are trying to attack the government on the farmers' issues. The TRS in the previous session had been soft on the ruling NDA and supported many legislations.

Chugh said BJP's wins in the two by-elections in the state along with the party's campaign to build bases have ensured that the saffron outfit will be the main opponent of TRS. "The TRS is now aware that BJP will be the main rival and that explains the change of stance of the party in the current session," said Chugh.

Kharge writes to Naidu on media clamp

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

LEADER of the Opposition in Rajya Sabha, Mallikarjun Kharge expressed shock over the government forbidding the media's access to the Central Hall and Library Building.

In a letter to Rajya Sabha Chairman Venkaiah Naidu, Kharge pointed out that Parliament becomes the nerve centre of political activities during sessions and the media take these issues to the public. Preventing them from covering the proceedings is unacceptable.

Demanding that issues related to restrictions on media should soon be resolved, Kharge wrote: "Media has carried the responsibility of informing the public about the burning issues being raised on the floor of the House. Forbidding and preventing media into the very premise of the campus of Parliament including access to the Central Hall and Library is not acceptable."

Certain journalists who covered Parliament had penned an open letter to all political parties that the promise made by Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla regarding unrestricted entry to Parliament, has not been fulfilled. A group of journalists will also be organising a protest on Thursday against this decison of the government.

Ministry initiatives to revive tourism industry

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE Ministry of Tourism has been organising promotional activities and campaigns with special focus on social media across states and abroad to revive and support tourism. A round-the-clock multilingual tourist helpline, e-visa facilities for 156 countries, training for creating a pool of certified tourist facilitators and new regional routes for better air connectivity are among steps being taken to boost the tourism sector, which helps in employment creation.

The ministry and the regional offices are regularly communicating with the travel industry and other stakeholders on issues related to opening up the tourism sector, handling of tourists, safety protocols, security and service standards, said Union Tourism Minister G Kishan Reddy, while replying to a question in Lok Sabha on steps being taken to revive influx of foreign and domestic tourists.

Market development Assistance (MDA) guidelines to promote India as a tourist destination have been revised to benefit a larger number of tourism stakeholders, the House was informed. "The ministry launched the Dekho Apna Desh initiative, which is promoted extensively on social media and website of the ministry... The ministry has been organising webinars, quizzes, discussions and roadshows to keep connected with the stakeholders and to encourage citizens to travel within the country," said the tourism minister.

The initiatives include special celebrations on the occasions of International Yoga Day, World Tourism Day, Constitution Day, Independence Day and regional festivals to create awareness.

ART BILL

MPs question LGBTQ exclusion

NEW DELHI: The much awaited bill to regulate and supervise clinics offering fertility treatments and to establish a national registry and registration authority was passed by the Lok Sabha on Wednesday.

The Assisted Reproductive Technology (Regulation) Bill, 2021, moved by Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya, envisages prevention of misuse and safe and ethical practice of ART services, and seeks to set minimum standards and code of conduct for fertility clinics and egg or sperm banks.

It provides for penal measures that include fine between ₹10 and ₹20 lakh and jail term between eight and 12 years for repeat offenders, including those involved in trafficking and sale of embryos.

During the discussion on the Bill, several members like BSP's Sangeeta Azad, TMC's Kakoli Ghosh Dastidar and NCP's Supriya Sule raised the issue of exclusion of single male parent and the LGBTQ community and argued that they, too, had the right to become parents.

Congress MP Karti Chidambaram said the bill excludes those who cannot afford this expensive procedure. ENS

Young foreign MPs invited

New Delhi: Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR) will be hosting young Parliamentarians from 75 countries as part of the Azadi Ka Amrut Mahotsav celebrations. Young Parliamentarians from Poland, Sri Lanka, Jamaica, Bhutan, Malaysia, Sweden, Tanzania and Uzbekistan were part of the first batch who visited Gujarat where they met state ministers, besides travelling to Anand to see the working of Amul cooperatives. "Such leaders will get to meet country's leaders at Centre and state levels," said ICCR president Vinay Sahasrabuddhe.

Railways & NHAI report huge losses due to agitations by farmer unions

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR & KUMAR VIKRAM @ New Delhi

AGITATIONS by farmers have resulted in big losses for Indian Railways and the National Highway Authority of India (NHAI), the Parliament was told on Wednesday.

Replying to a query in Lok Sabha, Union Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said more than 1,000 trains, originating and passing through various zones were obstructed in the protests by farmers that resulted in a loss of over ₹264.63 crore up to October. According to the minister, train movement was disrupted in 15 of the 18 zones of Indian Railways.

Parts of Jammu & Kashmir, Himachal, UP, Delhi, Punjab, Haryana and Chandigarh come under the five divisions of Northern Railway, which reported maximum loss of over ₹22.58 crore. Eastern Railway was second, having suffered losses to the tune of ₹3.34 crore. For the South Eastern zone, this figure was ₹2.61 crore.

In another reply in Parliament, Minister of Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari said that the NHAI has suffered a revenue loss of ₹2,731.32 crore due to farm protests in Punjab, Haryana and Rajasthan. The protests started affecting toll collection from October, 2020. Initially, toll plazas in Punjab were made non-operational by agitating farmers in October, 2020. It spread to neighbouring Haryana and parts of Rajasthan. Overall, 60 to 65 nahional highway toll plazas were affected. While toll booths in Punjab lost ₹1,269.42 crore, it was ₹1,319.6 crore in Haryana and ₹142.3 crore in Rajasthan.

"Further, NHAI invited bids for 14 non-operational fee plazas in the Rajasthan based on assurance from local administration and two plazas were awarded on 03.09.2021 and 07.09.2021. However, these plazas also could not be operated due to the farmers' protest. In case the protest is called off, NHAI, as an exigency plan, has directed regional offices to mobilise skilled/semi-skilled manpower instantly and operationalise the fee plazas to avoid revenue loss," said Gadkari.

Scope widens for women army officers

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

SHORT Service Commission Women Officers (SSCWO) have been granted Permanent Commission (PC) in eight arms and services — Engineers, Signals, Army Supply Corps, Army Ordinance Corps, EME, Army Intelligence Corps, Army Air Defence and Army Aviation.

An Indian Army officer confirmed the development and said, "Army has laid down a framework to manage the career progression of the women officers of these eights arms and services." This policy is significant because several women officers granted PC have served over 20 years.

The way for PC for SSCWOs was paved by the Supreme Court in February, 2020, when it gave orders to this effect. Army went ahead and appointed a special selection board in September, 2020, to screen women officers up to 2010 batch. Till now, 557 women officers have been granted PC. The new policy brings them on a par with their male counterparts.

Women officers were inducted into the army in 1992 under the Short Service Commission and were able to serve a maximum of 14 years. Women officers had approached Delhi High Court in 2003 over the issue .

As per the new policy, women officers in PC will be eligible for every appointment which was earlier open only to male officers in the eight arms and services. "The postings will now be uniform for men and women. Women will be eligible for posting to field, Line of Control, Line of Actual Control, high altitude areas and will serve in positions which were meant only for male officers."

The women officers granted PC are eligible for all the courses, competitive and by nomination, which play a significant role in career progression as well as for promotions.

In view of large number of women officers becoming eligible, army has taken measures including a one-time waiver in the upper-age limit and service limit in competitive examinations and courses.

Another decision is to make all women officers in PC undergo Middle Level Tactical Orientation Course of batches till 2004. This will be considered at par with the Junior Command Course which is mandatory for regular officers.

Task force to curb suicides in para troops

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Union Home Ministry has set up a task force comprising its senior-most officers for the prevention of suicide by central paramilitary forces personnel who render internal security duties in some of the most challenging conditions and arduous terrains.

The taskforce is headed by CRPF DG Kuldiep Singh, while a special or additional DG of the BSF, ITBP, CISF, SSB and Assam Rifles will be members.

The taskforce will draw a plan to "identify relevant risk factors and protective factors at the individual level; look at the existing and futuristic protective factors and study prevention strategies and also conduct research and interact with domain experts," according to the terms of reference.

Judge attending own case irks SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

TAKING exception to the fact a judicial officer appeared before the Supreme Court for his service cases instead of holding his own court, the top court on Wednesday said it is a sorry state of affairs.

A bench of Justices L Nageswara Rao, B R Gavai and B V Nagarathna was hearing a plea by a civil judge working with Delhi judiciary when the bench queried about his presence in court.

"Why are you not holding court now? It is almost 10.50 am on a Wednesday. Why are you here?" the bench questioned. At this, the judge replied that he had taken a short leave to appear in the case. "This is a real sorry state of affairs. It is 10.50 am and you are here. We don't even see you repenting," Justice Rao remarked.

The court noted that the current applications are by the Delhi High Court and a Delhi judicial officer seeking modification of an earlier order that imposed five years of experience as a condition for elevation of a civil judge in the senior division to the post of district judge.

The bench observed that it would not pass orders at this stage, but invite applications and appointed Siddharth Bhatnagar as amicus curiae and slated the next hearing for the first week of January.

Plea against Kangana posts

New Delhi: A petition has been filed in the Supreme Court seeking censoring of the social media posts of actor Kangana Ranaut in order to maintain law and order situation. The plea moved by petitioner in person Sardar Charanjeet Singh Chanderpal seeks a direction to Union home ministry, IT ministry, TRAI and state police authorities to take preventive action on social media against Kangana Ranaut. Referring to Ranaut's statement on Instagram as regards the farm laws vis-a-vis its irrelevant reference as a "Khalistani arm-twisting" tactic, the plea sought transfer of all FIRs registered against her across India to the Khar police station in Mumbai.

ONGC slammed over dues

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Wednesday came down heavily on ONGC after three former judges recused from an arbitral tribunal proceeding due to the PSU's disagreement on fee schedule and the meeting of the tribunal. A bench headed by the CJI asked the Attorney General to speak to the PSU and get payment to arbitrators sorted. In January, the SC had appointed two former chief justices to an arbitration tribunal to adjudicate a dispute involving ONGC. Recently, a third arbitrator, Justice Anil Dave, had opted out due to a dispute over arbitration fees. This was followed by the exit of Justice Jai Narayan Patel, one of the first appointed, over the same issue.

SKM condemns Centre's stand over farmer deaths

Unions seek formal letter over MSP panel, won't wind up stir yet

Farmers at Tikri border to mark the anniversary of agitation on November 26 | FILE

WHILE the contentious farm laws stand repealed with President Ram Nath Kovind on Wednesday signing the bill passed for this purpose in Parliament on Monday, Punjab and Haryana farmer unions are in no mood to wind up their protest yet.

The Centre has asked them to send five names for the committee to be set-up to look into the demand of legal guarantee for Minimum Support Prices (MSPs), but the farmer leaders want the government to send a formal letter in this regard. They also condemned the central government's stand that no compensation could be paid since there was no data on death of farmers.

After a meeting of 32 Punjab farmers unions at Singhu border, Samyukta Kisan Morcha (SKM) leader Harinder Singh Lakhowal said, "We have decided the names of farmer leaders that will be send, but till date the government has not sent a written communication and no details are available so far about what this committee is about, its mandate or terms of reference. In the absence of such details we cannot proceed further. There was just a telephone call to a union leader."

Also, the farmers are adamant that they won't return home until the government withdraws the cases registered against the farmers and also give compensation to those who had died during the agitation.

Over 48,000 cases were registered (by Haryana police). Till these are withdrawn we are not going back. The government should give compensation to injured farmers besides giving aid & government job to the families of deceased farmers — Farmer leader Mandeep Nathwan

The SKM condemned Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar's response in Parliament on Tuesday that there was no question of providing financial assistance as the government had no information about farmers' death during the year-long agitation.

The SKM stated that the Union government continued to insult the sacrifice of the farmers by saying that it had no record of the deaths.

The SKM reiterated its demand for compensation and rehabilitation of the kin of the farmers who died during the agitation and announced that morchas around Delhi borders would continue, with more tractor-trolleys reaching the protest sites.

The 25 farmer unions of Haryana, during a separate meeting at Singhu border, were unanimous that till the demands on Minimum Support Price, withdrawal of cases and compensation were met, the protest would continue.

Cong aspirants struggle to meet 'target'

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Congress has set a tough task for ticket aspirants in the poll-bound Uttar Pradesh. Ticket-seekers are feeling the heat as they all have been entrusted with pushing the party's membership drive by adding 10,000 members each, charging ₹5 as membership fees.

It may be recalled that at the outset, the grand old party had made it mandatory for ticket seekers to fill their candidature application form for 2022 Assembly elections by depositing ₹11,000 in the party fund.

This was followed by commencement of membership drive from Gorakhpur-Basti division in eastern UP on November 26. So far, around 350 ticket aspirants have been interviewed by senior party leaders in Gorakhpur.

Now the tentative candidates have been given the target of adding 10,000 party members before their candidature could be finalised. "Those who meet the target will be considered for the ticket. If the aspirants fail to enrol 10,000 members, their application could be reviewed," said a senior party leader.

In Gorakhpur division, which comprises nine Assembly segments, 68 aspirants have sought ticket from Congress so far, but adding 10,000 members is proving to be a bigger test than getting the ticket to contest the election.

One of the aspirants of Khajni segment in Gorakhpur district said on the condition of anonymity that membership fees of ₹5 is not a problem but getting 10,000 people and convincing them to take party membership is the real test. However, if the candidates succeed in enrolling 10,000 members each, the party would stand getting 6.80 lakh members only from Gorakhpur division as 68 persons have presented their claim for ticket.

For Gorakhpur Urban and Rural, 10 candidates each have presented their claim for ticket. Similarly, eight in Campierganj, seven in Piparaich, eight in Sahjanwa, seven in Khajani, five in Chauri-Chaura, eight in Basgaon, and four in Chillupar have presented their claim.

Bail an indefeasible right: HC

THE HC bench comprising N J Jamadar and S S Shinde agreed that a special court alone can try offences under the UAPA.

"So long as an application has been made for default bail on expiry of the stated period before time is further extended to the maximum period of 180 days, default bail, being an indefeasible right of the accused under the first proviso to Section 167(2), kicks in and must be granted," the order read. The HC bench said denial of default bail to Bharadwaj would amount to breach of her fundamental right to life and personal liberty guaranteed under Article 21.

Justifying its decision to deny bail to the other eight accused, the bench said they never claimed to have filed applications for default bail after the expiry of the initial period of 90 days from the date of their production till the filing of the chargesheet.

IED expert among two militants shot down in Pulwama encounter

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

TWO militants, including a Jaish-e-Mohammad commander having expertise in making IEDs, were killed in an encounter with security forces in south Kashmir's Pulwama district. In another incident a traffic policeman was critically injured in a militant attack in Srinagar on Wednesday.

A police official said security forces launched a joint combing and search operation in Qasbayar village in Pulwama during the preceding night after receiving inputs about the presence of militants there.

"During the search operation, militants were asked to surrender and lay down weapons. However, they turned down the offer and fired on troops and in the ensuing gunfight, two Jaish militants were killed," he said.

IGP Vijay Kumar identified the slain militants as Jaish commander Yasir Parray and a Pakistani militant Furqan alias Ali Bhai. Terming Parray's killing as a "big success", he said the Jaish commander was an IED expert and involved in many attacks.

Police sources said Furqan had been active with JeM since June 2020 while Yasir was a "Category-B" militant, who had joined JeM in June 2019. "He was an associate of Pakistani militant Abu Saifullah alias Lambu, who had planned February 14, 2019, suicide attack on CRPF bus in which 40 CRPF men were killed," they said.

Meanwhile, militants fired at a traffic policeman in Srinagar in the evening. Identified as Mohammad Abdullah, the policeman was rushed to nearby SMHS hospital, where he was operated by a team of doctors. The doctors have termed his condition as critical. After the attack, police and CRPF men rushed to the area and launched a search operation to track down the militants.

J&K pushed 30 years back by Centre: Azad

Former J&K CM and senior Congress leader Ghulam Nabi Azad said Article 370 revocation has pushed the erstwhile state 30 years back. "The Centre is saying that J&K state was bifurcated and turned into a Union Territory because the state was not granting land to outsiders for starting industries in the region," Azad told reporters in Poonch.

'WRONG DEGREE'

Being targeted for praising PM, says AMU PhD scholar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

THE Aligarh Muslim University (AMU) is yet again in news as one of its PhD scholars has alleged that he is being targeted and denied his PhD degree for praising PM Modi in the media. However, the AMU administration denied the allegation saying the student was issued a degree in a "wrong subject" and no politics was involved in the matter.

While seeking justice, Danish Rahim has not only moved the high court but has also written to UP CM Yogi Adityanath and PM Narendra Modi.

Rahim, in his letter to the PM, claimed that AMU administration had asked him to return the PhD degree in linguistics so that he could be issued another degree in Language in Advertising and Marketing (LAM) course instead. "It's happening because I praised the PM," said the scholar adding that he was reprimanded by the chairman of the department of linguistics for praising Modi.

The issue dates back to December 22, 2020, when Rahim had purportedly spoken to a news channel after the PM's virtual address on the foundation day of the university.

The AMU had asked Rahim to return the 'incorrect degree' for replacement within a week of the issuance of the notice.

Denied ticket, TMC leader to contest against Mamata's kin in Kolkata polls

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

CREATING embarrassment for Trinamool Congress, an aggrieved party leader has filed nomination as an independent candidate to contest CM Mamata Banerjee's sister-in-law Kajari Banerjee in the Kolkata Municipal Corporation polls.

Ratan Malakar, who was denied ticket in the upcoming civic polls, filed nomination on Wednesday for contesting in ward no 73. Earlier, another TMC leader Sachhidananda Banerjee had filed papers to contest as an independent candidate in ward no 70. Both the wards are in the CM's Bhowanipore Assembly seat.

"I don't want to give any statement against anyone. Contesting as an independent candidate is completely my own decision," said Malakar.

Since the announcement of its candidate list, the TMC has been facing a series of agitations staged by aspiring party workers who couldn't make it to the list. The party has axed 39 sitting councillors from its list of candidates in the poll scheduled on December 19.

"Candidature of the CM's sister-in-law surprised many of us. Malakar was confident that he would be fielded by the party. However, he should have realised Kajari's candidature was Mamata Banerjee's decision. He should have accepted it," said a TMC leader.

AASU leader lynching accused dies in 'accident during escape attempt'

GUWAHATI: The prime accused in the lynching of AASU leader in Jorhat died after being allegedly hit by a police vehicle when "trying to escape from custody" in the early hours on Wednesday, which prompted jubilation by people across Jorhat city and Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma to say that the state will become crime-free.

The Opposition, however, accused the police of "extra-judicial killings".

Neeraj Das alias 'Kola Lora' (black boy) was arrested on Tuesday, a day after the gruesome incident, and was to be produced before the court on Wednesday. Jorhat SP Ankit Jain said that during interrogation Das had revealed that a big drug consignment was coming and a police team set out with him at around 2 am on Wednesday in a bid to intercept it.

Das tried to escape by jumping off the police vehicle and while trying to flee, he was accidentally hit by the police vehicle which was moving at a high speed. "The driver of the vehicle then lost control of the vehicle which rammed into a wall," Jain said. Das was taken to hospital, where he was declared "brought dead". Three policemen were hurt in the incident.

A total 13 people, including Das, were arrested on Monday and Tuesday in connection with the lynching of AASU leader Animesh Bhuyan.

As the news of Das' death spread people came out to the streets in Jorhat city. CM Sarma wrote on Twitter, "Assam will be free of crime and criminal - Come what May".

AASU general secretary Sankarjyoti Baruah said, "For the first time we are happy over a person's death. Das had many cases against him and was a terror for Jorhat."

Leader of Opposition Debabrata Saikia apparently suspecting foul play said, "Whenever there is death of a person in custody, NHRC mandates enquiry. We hope that the probe is done impartially." PTI

BJP to use PM charisma in stir-hit Uttarakhand

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

AFTER Prime Minister Narendra Modi's public rally on December 4 in Dehradun, another rally of the PM will be organised in Udham Singh Nagar or Nainital districts of Kumaon division this month itself, said BJP state functionaries. Madan Kaushik, state BJP president said, "After December 4 rally in Dehradun, the PM could have another rally in Kumaon division on December 24."

Notably, US Nagar district was heavily affected by agitations against the controversial farm laws. Two short-listed locations for the rally could be Rudrapur in US Nagar or Haldwani in Nainital.

Political analysts said chances were high that the venue for the next proposed rally would be Rudrapur in US Nagar.

STAGE SET FOR UPCOMING ELECTION

Two locations for the prime minister's rally could be Rudrapur in Udham Singh Nagar or Haldwani in Nainital. Notably, US Nagar district was heavily affected by agitations against the farm laws. The Centre repealing the farm laws and the state government rolling back the Char Dham laws have set the stage for upcoming elections. Many also opined that the anger against farm laws is weaker in Uttarakhand.

"Rally in Rudrapur will target the whole farming belt in US Nagar as well as Haridwar districts. These two districts have 20 seats in the 70-seat Assembly. After repealing the farm laws, the BJP will pitch itself as a friend of farmers," said Dinesh Mansera, an analyst in Nainital.

Many say the Centre repealing the farm laws and the state government rolling back the Char Dham laws have set the stage for upcoming elections.

Kirankant Sharma, a political commentator based in Dehradun said, "The rally in Dehradun is kind of kicking-off the campaign. Now, the BJP has the audacity to say that it has abided by the will of an important section of people which is important for the society as well as the nation."

Some also opined that the anger against farm laws is weaker in Uttarakhand as there has been no death of farmers from the hill state during the agitation. Vikas Singh Saini, a farmer from US Nagar said, "We have no personal enmity with any party but those laws were oppressive and promoted slavery of farmers. Also, our brothers who lost their lives are not going to come back."

Jump in Char Dham footfall

Char Dham Yatra footfall this year has witnessed a jump with more than 5 lakh pilgrims compared to last year's 3.22 lakh pilgrims visiting the four shrines. The portals of the four shrines have been closed for the winter break with Badrinath closing on November 20. Out of the total 5,06,240 pilgrims, 2,41,712 visited Kedarnath followed by 1,97,056 to Badrinath, 33,166 to Gangotri and 33,303 to Yamunotri. In 2019, over 38 lakh pilgrims had visited the shrines. The offerings also came down to ₹8 crore in 2020 from ₹55 crore in 2019. PM Modi had visited Kedarnath on November 5, just a day before closure of portals of the shrine.

Sex ratio improves in Himalayan state

Uttarakhand has registered some improvement in sex ratio with 984 females per 1,000 males, revealed the recently released report of National Family Health Survey (NFHS) by the Union Ministry of Health and Family welfare. According to the last survey of NFHS in 2015-16, the hill state's ratio stood at 888/1,000. The report also revealed improvement in deliveries in hospitals. Earlier the percentage of deliveries in hospitals stood 68.60% which has improved to 83.20% in the latest report. In February this year, Uttarakhand government launched a scheme under which nameplates of the houses in villages will bear the names of daughters. Titled 'Gharaiki Pehchan Chelik Naam' (Ghar Ki Pehchaan Beti ka Naam), houses will have name plates displaying names of daughters in selected villages.

Corbett officials toughen stand against drones

The Corbett Tiger Reserve (CTR) administration has issued directions to shoot down or capture any drone in the air space of the protected sanctuary. This comes after a drone was recovered from Sarpudali range of the reserve last month. Rahul, director of the CTR who uses only his first name said, "Flying of drones or any object in close vicinity is a threat to wildlife. Those found in violation will face action." Officials of the reserve told that drones could be used by some elements to track wild animals which can pose threat to wildlife.

Notice to 150 doctors over bond violation

The Uttarakhand government has issued notices (Kurki) to more than 150 doctors who reneged on bond by not keeping their commitment to serve at least five years in government service. Dhan Singh Rawat, state health minister said, "Instructions have been issued to take strict actions against such doctors. We are committed to provide best health care to the people of our state." Officials of the state health department said the doctors have to pay bond money of ₹30 lakh (MBBS) and ₹15 lakh (PG) which was raised to ₹1 crore and ₹2.5 crore in 2017 respectively. The government offers MBBS courses at subsidised rates in state-run medical colleges.

Russia expels some US diplomats

A tit-for-tat action after Washington ordered 55 Russians to leave amid heightened tensions

MOSCOW

RUSSIA said on Wednesday that a number of US diplomats will have to leave Russia before the end of next month, the latest salvo in a diplomatic tug-of-war between Moscow and Washington.

Russian Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Maria Zakharova said those US Embassy personnel who would have spent more than three years in Russia would have to leave Russia by January 31.

She said the Russian demand mirrors action by the United States, which ordered 55 Russian diplomats to leave. "We see the American demand as an expulsion and will respond in kind," Zakharova said.

The Russian ambassador to Washington, Anatoly Antonov, said last week that 27 Russian diplomats will have to leave by January 30, followed by an equal number half a year later.

He rejected the US State Department's argument that the Russian diplomats will have to leave because their visas are expiring, saying that Washington's refusal to extend their visas effectively amounted to the diplomats' expulsion.

Antonov urged the United States to roll back several waves of mutual restrictions on the countries' diplomats and 'return to normal practice of diplomatic missions' work'.

On Wednesday, Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister Yuri Ryabkov described Washington's move as an effective 'destruction of diplomatic missions'.

"They just go head-on, continuing attempts to exert pressure," he said about the United States.

"That language of ultimatums that the Americans also use in other spheres of our relations is unacceptable for us. We will respond in kind."

Russia and the US have exchanged several rounds of diplomats expulsions and took other steps restricting the activities of their respective diplomatic missions over the past years as relations between Moscow and Washington sank to post-Cold War lows over Russia's 2014 annexation of Ukraine's Crimean Peninsula, its interference in American elections, its hacking attacks and other irritants.

As part of trading diplomatic blows, Russia banned the US Embassy from hiring local residents. The Embassy said the move forced it to reduce its consular workforce by 75% and cut most American citizen services as well as non-immigrant visa processing for non-diplomatic travel. AP

Russia planning large-scale attack on Ukraine: Blinken

WASHINGTON

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken said on Wednesday Washington had seen "evidence" Russia could be planning an invasion on Ukraine, threatening Moscow with painful economic sanctions if it attacks.

"We're deeply concerned by evidence that Russia has made plans for significant aggressive moves against Ukraine, plans include efforts to destabilise Ukraine from within as well as large scale military operations," Blinken said after a meeting of NATO foreign ministers in Riga.

"We made it clear to the Kremlin that we will respond resolutely, including with a range of high impact economic measures that we've refrained from using in the past."

Antony Blinken

Russian president Vladimir Putin said on Wednesday that Moscow would seek Western guarantees that would preclude any further NATO expansion and deployment of its weapons near Russia's borders.

Speaking at a Kremlin ceremony where he received credentials from foreign ambassadors, Putin emphasised Russia will seek "strong, reliable and long-term guarantees of its security."

"In a dialogue with the United States and its allies we will insist on working out specific agreements that would exclude any further NATO moves eastward and the deployment of weapons systems that threaten us in close vicinity to the Russian territory," Putin said. He said Russia is offering the West to engage in detailed talks on the issue, adding that Moscow would need "legal guarantees of its security."

The Russian leader noted that such agreements should take into account interests of all countries. Putin's statement came a day after he sternly warned NATO against deploying its troops and weapons to Ukraine, saying it represents a red line for Russia and would trigger a strong response. AFP

ROE VS WADE

Abortion rights at stake in US as Supreme Court takes up key case

WASHINGTON

ABORTION in America faces its fiercest challenge in a generation when a US Supreme Court dramatically reshaped by Donald Trump hears opening arguments on Wednesday in a case that could roll back 50 years of reproductive rights.

The nine justices — among them six conservatives — will sit from 10.00 am to examine a 2018 law in the southern state of Mississippi that prohibits most terminations after 15 weeks of pregnancy.

The court is expected to render a decision by next June, and supporters and opponents alike agree the case ruling could be a historic moment regarding a woman's right to terminate a pregnancy.

In the landmark 1973 decision Roe vs Wade, the court held that access to abortion is a woman's constitutional right, striking down state laws that restricted the procedure.

In a 1992 ruling, Planned Parenthood vs Casey, the court guaranteed a woman's right to a termination until the fetus is viable outside the womb, which is typically 22 to 24 weeks.

The Supreme Court's rulings did not put an end, however, to conservative and religious opposition to the procedure, and anti-abortion activists believe their moment may have finally arrived after years of political and legal battles.

"We recognise the magnitude of what we are asking," Mississippi Attorney General Lynn Fitch wrote in The Washington Post. She argued that in Roe the court took the difficult task of abortion policymaking "out of the hands of the people" and into those of unelected judges who decide the fate of Americans' lives. "It is time to correct that mistake," she said. The 2018 Mississippi law bans abortion after 15 weeks of pregnancy and makes no exception for rape or incest.

It was blocked as unconstitutional by lower courts before ending up in the Supreme Court. Just by agreeing to hear the case, the court indicated that it was prepared to revisit its previous rulings, at least when it comes to the question of "viability."

Mississippi, a conservative Bible Belt state, is asking the top court to go even further and strike down Roe vs Wade.

Mississippi has received the backing of 18 other Republican-led states, hundreds of lawmakers, the Catholic Church and anti-abortion groups, some of which have spent millions of dollars on publicity campaigns. AFP

CNN suspends Chris Cuomo for helping bro

NEW YORK

CNN said on Tuesday it had indefinitely suspended primetime anchor Chris Cuomo after the release of legal transcripts that revealed how he helped his brother Andrew, then the governor of New York, combat allegations of sexual misconduct.

At the start of the pandemic, the brothers soared to new heights of popularity: Andrew Cuomo earned praise for his frank daily briefings as the coronavirus ravaged New York, and their live exchanges on CNN were peppered with banter.

But after months of battling claims that he had harassed about a dozen women including former staffers, Andrew Cuomo resigned from office in August.

Bieber concert at the centre of Saudi ideological row

Canadian pop star Justin Bieber has found himself at the heart of an ideological row between Saudi Arabia and rights activists that could rumble on for years. The singer's decision to perform at this week's inaugural Saudi Arabian Formula One Grand Prix, while undoubtedly lucrative, has not come without a cost as campaigners urge him to cancel in protest at Riyadh's human rights record

It might just seem like Justin Bieber and an audience of people gathering to hear him sing. But the reality is that there are some complex issues underpinning much of what is happening in Saudi Arabia this weekend

Professor Simon Chadwick, a sports industry expert from the Emlyon Business School in Lyon

KHASHOGGI'S WIFE URGES SINGER TO CANCEL EVENT

Leading the calls for Bieber to cancel is Hatice Cengiz, fiancee of Saudi journalist Jamal Khashoggi, whose 2018 murder inside the Saudi consulate in Istanbul prompted international outrage

"This is a unique opportunity to send a powerful message to the world that your name and talent will not be used to restore the reputation of a regime that kills its critics," Cengiz told Bieber in a Washington Post op-ed

PRESSURE FROM BOTH SIDES

With the debate already intractable, Bieber's performance had become a focal point

"What many are immediately doing is weaponising, geopoliticising Justin Bieber. And essentially making him something that he's not. He's just a singer singing in front of an audience," Professor Simon Chadwick, a sports industry expert said

"Justin Bieber on the one hand is going to be judged very harshly by liberals for going to Saudi Arabia," Chadwick said. "But at the same time, if he wasn't to go to Saudi Arabia, then those from countries in the Gulf region and elsewhere in the world may well perceive (him) as being some kind of liberal ideologist opposed to what happens in these countries"

'SPORTSWASHING'

The conservative kingdom has made reforms, including allowing women to drive, but its crackdowns on dissent, rejection of the LGBTQ+ community and high number of executions frequently raise the ire of campaigners

Other Formula One hosts including Azerbaijan, Bahrain, China and Hungary have been accused of 'sportswashing' — using sport to divert attention from abuses —but the debate is particularly heated around Saudi Arabia, partly because of Khashoggi

The Saudis "can't erase history" as regards the murder, said James Dorsey, a senior fellow at the National University of Singapore's Middle East Institute

Four injured as World War-era bomb explodes in Germany

BERLIN

FOUR people were injured, one of them seriously, when a World War II bomb exploded at a building site near Munich's main train station on Wednesday, emergency services said.

Bavaria's state interior minister, Joachim Herrmann, said the 250-kilogram (550-pound) bomb was found during drilling work, German news agency dpa reported. Construction workers had been drilling into the ground when the bomb exploded, a spokesman for the fire department said.

The blast was heard several kilometres away and scattered debris hundreds of metres, according to local media reports.

Images showed a plume of smoke rising directly next to the train tracks. Rail operator Deutsche Bahn suspended its services on the affected lines. The fire service said there was no damage to the tracks. According to the fire service, the explosion happened near a bridge that must be passed by all trains travelling to or from the station. Some 75 years after the war, Germany remains littered with unexploded ordnance, often uncovered during construction work. However, most bombs are defused by experts before they explode.

Mayor held for refusing permit for mural of PM's dad

Bangladesh: A Bangladesh mayor who refused to permit a mural depicting PM Sheikh Hasina's father on religious grounds was arrested on Wednesday, police said. Sheikh Mujibur Rahman was independent Bangladesh's first leader and since his daughter took power in 2009, authorities have erected more than 1,000 murals and monuments to venerate him. Scores of people have been charged for defaming him under the notorious internet laws, which rights groups say have been used by Hasina to silence dissent.

US author apologises to man wrongly jailed over 1981 rape

NEW YORK

ALICE Sebold, author of the best-selling novel The Lovely Bones, on Tuesday apologised to a Black man who spent 16 years in prison for her 1981 rape, only to see his conviction overturned last week.

"I want to say that I am truly sorry to Anthony Broadwater and I deeply regret what you have been through," said Sebold, whose breakthrough book Lucky described her traumatic assault at age 18. "I am sorry most of all for the fact that the life you could have led was unjustly robbed from you, and I know that no apology can change what happened to you and never will," Sebold, now 58, said in a statement. Broadwater, 61, had always maintained his innocence but was convicted in 1982 of the rape and spent 16 years behind bars.

After his release, Lucky came out in 1999, a memoir in which Sebold described the brutal attack she suffered as a first-year student at Syracuse University in New York. Sebold — whose bestseller The Lovely Bones also dealt with the issue of sexual assault — said she was "grateful that Mr Broadwater has finally been vindicated."

But, she added, "the fact remains that 40 years ago, he became another young Black man brutalized by our flawed legal system. I will forever be sorry for what was done to him."

Pilot recalls flying Clinton, Prince Andrew, Trump on planes owned by Epstein

WASHINGTON

JEFFREY Epstein's longtime pilot testified on Tuesday at the sex trafficking trial of Ghislaine Maxwell that he recalled flying Prince Andrew, Bill Clinton and Donald Trump on the late financier's private planes.

Lawrence Visoski, who worked for Epstein for nearly 30 years, said he was told when VIPs would be aboard because "you'd want to make sure the plane looked nice."

Besides Clinton, Prince Andrew and Trump, Visoski said he also recalled flying the actor Kevin Spacey. Maxwell, the 59-year-old daughter of the late newspaper baron Robert Maxwell, is accused of procuring underage girls who were sexually exploited by Epstein.

An activist protests at the Thurgood Marshall United States Courthouse in New York where the trial of Ghislaine Maxwell is being held | AP

Epstein committed suicide in a New York prison in August 2019 while awaiting trial.

The British jet-set socialite and heiress has pleaded not guilty to six counts of enticing and transporting minors for sex that could send her to prison for up to 80 years.

Epstein's VIP passengers, including on flights to his luxury properties around the world, had been previously reported, but Visoski gave further details as the government's first witness at the trial. He said that he never saw any sexual activity on the planes, but that the cockpit door was always closed in flight. "I certainly did not," he said when asked if he witnessed sexual activity with minors. Visoski, who worked as a pilot for Epstein from 1991 to 2019, was also asked about a key witness who is being identified only as "Jane" and is testifying against Maxwell.

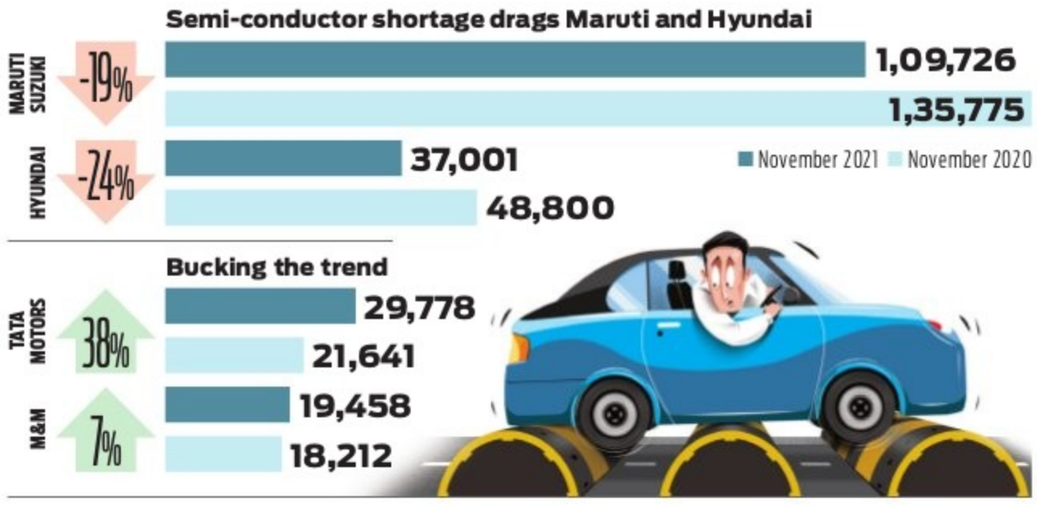
Maruti, Hyundai hit supply bumps; joy ride for others

Tata Motors, M&M see growth in car sales during Novemeber



ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE global supply chain constraints continue to affect Maruti Suzuki (MSIL) and Hyundai Motor as the two big carmakers once again reported a double-digit fall in their monthly sales.

MSIL, which sells one in every two cars sold in the country, dispatched 109,726 units of passenger vehicles (PVs) in the domestic market in November 2021 as against 135,775 units sold in the same month last year, registering a decline of 19%. Similarly, Hyundai reported a 24% decline in its domestic sales to 37,001 units in November 2021, against 48,800 units in the same month last year.

"The shortage of electronic components had a minor impact on the production of vehicles during the month. The shortage primarily affected the production of vehicles sold in the domestic market," MSIL said in a regulatory filing.

Going ahead, this shortage will continue for Maruti as it would be producing around 80% to 85% of normal capacity in December 2021.

> Our growth in SUVs continues with an 8% increase in November. The demand remains strong across our product portfolio of SUVs, pickups, and small commercial vehicles

While Maruti and Hyundai are struggling to ramp up production, two home-grown auto firms — Tata Motors and Mahindra & Mahindra — continue to register growth.

Tata Motors' PV sales during November rose 38% year-on-year to 29,778 units. This also means that the gap between Tata and Hyundai has now come down to less than 8,000 units. If Tata manages to outsell Hyundai in the coming months and maintain its lead, it will become India's second largest carmaker.

Mahindra's PV sales stood at 19,458 vehicles in November 2021, a growth of 7% year-on-year.

"Our growth in SUVs continues with an 8% increase in the month of November. The demand remains strong across our product portfolio of SUVs, pickups, and small commercial vehicles," said Veejay Nakra, Chief Executive Officer, Automotive Division, M&M.

According to analysts at LKP Securities, Mahindra and Tata are handling the chip issues better than MSIL, hence their sales are seeing a good growth. The other carmakers that registered annual growth in November 2021 sales are Toyota Kirloskar(53%) and Nissan India (161%) albeit a low base.

Carmakers such as Kia Motors, Honda Cars India and MG witnessed a significant slump in sales last month, down between 30-50% year-on-year. Kia, which has become a serious player in India's 4-wheeler market, reported a 32% drop in November 2021 sales to 14,214 units.

BSNL's 4G roll-out by Sept 2022: Govt

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

STATE-OWNED telecom Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) has given a timeline of September 2022 for pan-India roll-out of its 4G services, informed the Minister of State for Communications Devusinh Chauhan, in a written reply to the Lok Sabha on Wednesday.

With the roll-out of 4G, the company estimates incremental revenue of around ₹900 crore in the first year from operation. "BSNL invited the expression of interest (EoI) on January 1, 2021 for proof of concept (PoC) for Indian companies interested in participating in BSNL's upcoming 4G tender," said the minister.

The minister also informed that BSNL has not partnered with any company for the provision of 5G services.

On the revival plans, the minister said the revival plan inter-alia, includes measures to reduce the staff cost through a voluntary retirement scheme (VRS) for employees of age 50 years and above, administrative allotment of spectrum for providing 4G services with funding through budgetary allocation, monetisation of non-core and core assets to generate resources to retire debt, meet capex and other requirements, debt restructuring by raising of sovereign guarantee bonds and in-principle approval for merger of BSNL and MTNL.

"These measures are expected to help BSNL turn around and remain competitive," informed Devusinh Chauhan.

The minister informed the house that there is no proposal under consideration for disinvestment of BSNL and MTNL.

As per the audited financial statement, the asset of BSNL and MTNL as on Sept 30, 2021 is ₹1,33,952 crore and ₹3,556 crore respectively. Netblock of property, plant and equipment in respect of BSNL and MTNL as on March, 2021 are ₹89,878 cr and ₹3,252 cr, respectively. Total liability of BSNL and MTNL as on Sept 30, 2021 is ₹85,721 cr and ₹30,159 cr, respectively.

Commercial LPG prices hiked by ₹103 per cylinder

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE price of Liquefied Petroleum Gas (LPG) cylinders for commercial usage was hiked by ₹103.50 for a 19-kg cylinder on Wednesday.

This is the second hike within a month by state-owned oil marketing companies, the last time they increased ₹266 on commercial cylinders on November 1. Following the hike, the price of the 19-kg commercial cylinder will now cost ₹2101 in Delhi, ₹2,051 in Mumbai, ₹2,174.50 in Kolkata, ₹2,234.50 in Chennai.

However, the respite is that there is no hike in domestic LPG cylinders by the petroleum companies.

Right now, the price of a non-subsidised 14.2 kg domestic cylinder in Delhi is ₹899.50 per bottle, while the new rate of 5kg domestic cylinder stands at ₹502.

The government provides 12 cylinders of 14.2-kg each per household at subsidised or below-market rates. For any quantity over this, the customer will have to pay at market price or non-subsidised rates.

State-owned oil marketing companies — Indian Oil, Bharat Petroleum and Hindustan Petroleum — generally change the price of gas cylinders on the first and fifteenth of every month.

As per the companies, the price of an LPG cylinder is calculated based on the import parity price (IPP).

JSPL builds ₹3,000-cr war chest for port; bids for dock at Paradip Port

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

JINDAL Steel and Power Ltd (JSPL), one of the country's major private sector steel manufacturers, is planning to invest up to ₹3,000 crore in developing a port on the eastern coastal line to secure transportation of steel from its plant in Angul, Odisha plant.

The company has submitted its bid for developing the western dock at Paradip Port, and though there are 5-6 other bidders, JSPL management believes it fulfils all the criteria to be able to win the bid. "While our first choice is Paradip Port, but if that does not materialise, we would like to develop one between Paradip and Gopalpur," managing director VR Sharma told TNIE.

The Naveen Jindal-owned company has plans to expand the capacity of its Angul plant from 5.4 million tonnes (MT) at present to 25.2 MT over next 9 years. The plan to own a port is to ensure the plant does not face logistical issues.

"If we do not have logistics for such huge capacity, we would be in trouble. The existing railways and road links won't be enough to handle 25 MT steel capacity, whether it is for exports or transportation within the country," says the MD. He adds that it is better to transport via vessels even within the country than through roads or trains.

The company is open to either develop the berths in one of the existing ports or even develop a new dedicated port from scratch. "We are open for both a partnership with one of the existing ports or even develop a new one," says Sharma.

In case of a partnership, the company will bring in 70-75% capital to develop and manage the port while the rest would be brought in by the port authorities. Once the company successfully bids for a port, it would seek permission from railways for a dedicated freight line to connect the plant with the port.

VODAFONE-IDEA STOCK JUMPS 20%; MAY SURGE MORE

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

SHARES of Vodafone Idea (Vi) surged 20% intraday to ₹13.25 on Wednesday amidst overall recovery in the stock market and decision by three leading telecom players to hike tariffs by around 20-30%.

The stock at its intraday high was trading in the vicinity of its 52-week high of ₹13.80 (January 2021) and thrice the value of its 52-week low of ₹4.55. It closed the Wednesday session 14% higher at ₹12.67.

According to an equity market analyst, the stock may see more buying in the short to medium term.

"On the Daily chart company have made Cup and Handle formation and the neckline breakout has been done today with good volumes," said Gaurav Garg, Head of Research, CapitalVia Global Research

"The immediate target of this break out is ₹15.10. On longer term chart ₹15.50 is the resistance level and above it will go towards ₹18.50 levels," Garg added.

He also mentioned that the company's announcement that it won an international arbitration case against the Indian government, ending one of the most high-profile disputes in the country involving a $2 billion tax claim, news in the market that some banks from Middle East are going to invest in the Idea and hikes in tariff are big boosts for the stock.

The stock of the debt-laden telco had a major fall in August this year after Kumar Mangalam Birla stepped down as non-executive director and non-executive chairman of the company amidst concerns around its survival in the Indian market.

The overall equity market too witnessed some recovery on Wednesday after a disastrous last week.

At close, the BSE Sensex was up 619.92 points or 1.09% at 57,684.79, and the Nifty was up 183.70 points or 1.08% at 17,166.90. The BSE midcap and smallcap indices climbed up to 1%.

GST collections shoot up to ₹1.31L cr in Nov

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

SIGNALLING India's gradual economic recovery, Goods and Services Tax (GST) collections grew 25% year-on-year to ₹1,31,526 crore in November, surpassing October's ₹1.30 lakh crore mop-up.

Tax collections from import of goods also contributed to the numbers, which were 43% higher, while revenues from domestic transactions, including import of services, were 20% higher compared to November 2020, government data showed.

According to the government, rising demand and better compliance by taxpayers contributed to the growth in GST collection. Officials claimed the numbers will be even better in the coming months.

November's GST mop-up is the second largest on record. The highest was in April this year, at ₹1.40 lakh crore.

Experts say GST collection will maintain healthy momentum for the rest of the fiscal. "We expect Central GST collections to rise to ₹5.8 lakh crore in FY22, exceeding the BE by ₹50,000 crore," said Aditi Nayar, chief economist at ICRA.

Another data set released on Wednesday, IHS Markit Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI), bolstered the argument that economic recovery is gathering pace. The PMI survey showed manufacturing zoomed to a 10-month high in November on high domestic demand.

Kunal Shah's CRED to acquire Happay

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

FINTECH start-up CRED, which turned into a unicorn in April this year, will acquire corporate spend management platform Happay for a cash and stock deal.

This transaction pegs Happay's valuation at around $180 million. While Happay will operate as a separate entity, the team will work closely with CRED leadership to leverage its ecosystem, build distribution, expand the product offering and drive scale.

Happay's 230-member team will get all the benefits extended to CRED team, including its ESOP programme, CRED said on Wednesday. The move will bring in synergies between CRED — the majority of whose members are professionals who use it to manage personal payments across multiple credit cards — and Happay — the unified platform for business expenses, payments, and travel bookings.

Kunal Shah, founder, CRED, said, "Turning the pain of credit card management into a delight has enabled CRED to grow rapidly over the past three years. With professional expenses forming a significant portion of credit card spends, bringing professional expense management into the CRED ecosystem is a natural extension of our proposition."

Happay is a business expense, payments and travel management platform serving over 6,000 businesses. It manages work-related expenses for over 1 million users globally with $1 billion in annual spends.

Anshul Rai, co-founder and CEO, Happay, said, "We've invested in building a category-defining product at Happay. The next phase of our growth will come from building scale, brand, and distribution."

Consumer durables sector to see 20% growth in revenue this fiscal: Crisil

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DRIVEN by consumer electronics, India's consumer durables sector is set to clock a 20% growth in revenue this fiscal after a flattish run last fiscal, according to a report.

The report by Crisil Ratings suggests that electrical appliances makers that contribute to 35% of the sector revenues are expected to grow twice as fast as white goods makers, which contribute to 65% of the sector's total revenues. White goods include washing machines, televisions, refrigerator and air conditioners while consumer electronics include fans, small kitchen and cooking appliances, and lighting products among others.

The sector had clocked ₹2 lakh crore revenue last fiscal. Gautam Shahi, Director, Crisil Ratings, says the growth momentum is expected to accelerate this fiscal on positive sentiment, uptrading and higher realisations. "Consumer electricals will continue to outshine with 23-24% revenue growth expected this fiscal, compared with 14-15% for white goods, riding on factors such as shorter replacement cycle, necessity, and smaller ticket size."

Electrical appliances makers to have an edge

Electrical appliances makers that contribute to 35% of the sector revenues are expected to grow twice as fast as white goods makers, which contribute 65%

Despite higher revenues, the sector's margins are expected to moderate as the prices of key commodities such as copper, aluminium, and polypropylene have stabilised, and are 30% higher than the average of the past two fiscals, according to Crisil's analysis of 15 companies accounting for 45% of the sector's revenue.Consumer electrical makers have hiked prices by 8-10% this fiscal, much more than the average 3-4% by white goods makers. Operating profitability of white goods makers is seen moderating at 6-7% compared with 10-11% for consumer electrical makers.

Infosys, Proximus tie up for IT application transition

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

IT major Infosys on Wednesday announced its strategic collaboration with Belgium's digital services and communications solutions provider Proximus to digitally transform, develop, and maintain its IT applications with leading AI and automation solutions.

Through this engagement, Infosys will support Proximus' key digital initiatives, IT transformation programmes and provide structural cost reduction. Also, the IT company will leverage its extensive partner ecosystem to accelerate the implementation of the strategic transformation programmes for Proximus.

Antonietta Mastroianni, Chief Digital & IT Officer, Proximus, said, "As we continue on this journey to elevate our digital initiatives, we were looking for a partner that could understand and provide strength to our digital vision."

India-China trade gap crosses $30 bn till Sept; imports up 8% since 2014-15

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DESPITE the push for local manufacturing under Aatmnirbhar Bharat, and push against Chinese imports, trade deficit between India and China stood at $30.07 billion during April-September 2021.

India's exports to China from April to September 2021 stood at $12.26 billion, while imports were aggregated at $42.33 billion, according to data given by Minister of State for Commerce and Industry Anupriya Patel in a written reply to the Lok Sabha. She said the imports from China have increased from $60.41 billion in 2014-15 to $65.21 billion in 2020-21, exhibiting an increase of 7.94% over six years.

Major items of import from China include telecom instruments, computer hardware, fertiliser, electronic components, chemicals and drug intermediates. "The government has made sustained efforts to achieve a more balanced trade with China, including bilateral engagements to address the non-tariff barriers on Indian exports to China," Patel said.

Schemes like the production-linked incentive scheme will help promote domestic manufacturing capacities and attract investment and reduce dependency on imports from China, the minister said.

INDIA STAND TALL

Hosts produce a defensive masterclass to setup Germany clash in junior World Cup semis

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Bhubaneswar

India withstood a barrage of attacks from Belgium to win the quarterfinal 1-0 in Bhubaneswar | IRFANA

BEFORE the match, Belgium coach, Jeroen Baart, said his team would have to overcome 'India's attack wave' for them to progress. In the end, it was India that had to withstand a sustained Belgium wave to advance to the semifinals of the junior World Cup.

Matches between India and Belgium — at least when the seniors face each other — are often tense, tight affairs. This one between the two junior setups was no different. Chances were at a premium, shots on goal may have as well been declared an endangered species and penalty corners (only four across 60 minutes) were hard to come by. The only one India got, in the 21st minute, they were confident enough to try a variation through which the impressive Sharda Nand Tiwari found the roof of the net.

It lifted the roof of the stadium, volunteers and 'special invitees' have filled a few seats and Wednesday was no different. However, the hosts' best work came after they went ahead. Belgium, who rely on controlling and asphyxiating opposition, had lost the midfield battle for a period of time in the second quarter. It was a different story in the next two quarters when the young Red Lions got hold of the ball. But they were faced with a Blue Wall who were determined to not concede.

A couple of samples that illustrated their determination: a Belgian flanker got hold of the loose ball and drove down the right channel before unleashing a fierce drive. That was stopped by a combination of three Indian sticks. All of Abhishek Lakra, Yashdeep Siwach and Vivek Sagar Prasad ran and forced the visiting attacker to settle for a long corner.

When the visitors finally started the full court press in the fourth quarter, India retreated into a shell, opting to soak pressure and defend. A direct byproduct of this was the increasing circle penetrations for the opposition. The pressure finally told with Belgium unleashing their attacking prowess. On both occasions, though, they found the wide-chested custodian, Pawan, who diverted the ball to safety. In that sense, it was a defensive masterclass that enabled the Colts to finish on the right side of a tight game.

SEMIFINALS
(December 3)
France vs Argentina
India vs Germany

They finished on the right side because it was a match where they all trusted each other to do the right thing. All communication channels were open, they were patient and calm — two words you wouldn't normally use to describe an Indian hockey side — and took the one chance that came their way. Across 60 minutes, they had one penalty corner. Beside the goal, the hosts had zero shots on target. To sum up, this was a very un-Indian performance.

After the match, Reid said it was good to know the team had this in their locker, the ability to win while knowing they can play better. But the Australian said they had worked on the defensive aspect of their game and was happy that it paid dividends here. "Our defence was much better in this game than against France (India lost that 4-5). The marking was a lot tighter. Both keepers played well, it's nice to see them shine.

"Still got some work to do and it gives us something to do the next two days."

One area which could cause some consternation to the side is they again began the match slowly. Belgium kept the ball for the opening two minutes and the hosts were pretty much asleep for the first 7-8 minutes. It was their good fortune that most of their possession broke down just before the striking circle. "We didn't start that well, we were a bit slow... we haven't won anything yet, long way to go," Reid said.

The big difference from tonight and many previous matches was the focus India had. There were no lapses in concentration. "I don't know," Reid said when asked how he brings about a sense of calmness to the side. "(Laughs), I talk a lot about focus. Every ball counts, every detail counts. Those were two of my points tonight."

His wards copy-pasted those instructions and executed the functions demanded of them to a T. Now, Germany stands between them and a second successive World Cup final.

IOA polls: All eyes on Delhi HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

ALL eyes will be on Delhi High Court on Thursday when it meets to discuss the fate of Indian Olympic Association elections on December 19 in Guwahati. The two-judge bench of Justice Manmohan and Justice Najmi Waziri on Tuesday asked the IOA to maintain the status quo on the elections until the next hearing.

The electoral college, however, was completed on Tuesday and since it was done before the order, it is expected to hold. However, there are differences of opinion between the IOA president and the secretary-general on certain members of the electoral college.

As reported by this newspaper, restrictive clause of the IOA seems to have turned into the primary issue. What seems intriguing about the order is that counsels for both Union of India and IOA secretary-general objected to the restrictive clause in the IOA. According to IOA's rule 11.1.3., only members, who had held office in any of the preceding five Executive Council shall be eligible to contest for posts of president and secretary-general.

The order also notes petitioner Rahul Mehra's inference to the sports code in his prayer. "The petitioner submits that the National Sports Code is the paramount document whose applicability is imperative and it has been so held by judicial orders, but the constitution of the IOA is not in consonance with it. The restrictive clause is against the democratic spirit. If elections are held as per the existing constitution/Articles of Association, it would not be a truly representative body. The Government of India seemingly agrees with the aforesaid view," the order cites.

Apart from this clause, Mehra urged the court to consider putting an age and tenure cap on other members of the Executive Council too. As of now only the office bearers — president, secretary-general and treasurer adhere to age and tenure cap.

On Wednesday, most of the senior members were in Delhi huddled in different meetings. The nomination dates are December 2-4 and the list would be made public on December 8. The elections gain significance because the secretary-general's post will fall vacant after two four-year terms. With two factions, one led by president and the other by the secretary, in fray, the elections would be intriguing.

It is understood that Batra faction would challenge the court order, especially one pertaining to IOA constitution, and would want the elections to go ahead. With some senior members backing Batra, the balance is apparently tilted in his favour. But because Mehta is a also a popular figure in the IOA, he too commands support. Usually, elections in IOA is unanimous. The panel for either side too has not been finalised though some names have been proposed by federations for posts in the EC. If there is a stay, the election process would most likely begin a fresh with a 30-day notice.

RAIN PAIN

Vijay Hazare matches moved out of Chennai

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

THE Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) has moved all the Vijay Hazare Trophy matches out of Chennai after Tamil Nadu Cricket Association expressed its inability to host the event because of persistent rain in the city. The matches were scheduled to begin in the city on December 8. Instead, Jaipur has been added as a host city. It will also get to host the knockout matches.

As per BCCI's original schedule, the men's 50-over domestic event was scheduled to be held across six cities — Mumbai, Mohali, Thiruvananthapuram, Rajkot, Ranchi and Chennai. However, Chennai has been witnessing heavy rains over the past month, which has made it difficult for the groundsmen to keep three venues in shape. With MA Chidambaram Stadium closed because of renovation work, the TNCA was looking at other venues in the city. And the state association had informed the BCCI as early as November first week to keep Plan B in place.

And with the rain showing no signs of relenting, the TNCA formally wrote to BCCI asking matches to be moved out and the board has now chosen Jaipur as a replacement venue for Plate matches.

Tripura, Bihar, Meghalaya, Nagaland, Sikkim, Arunachal Pradesh, Mizoram and Manipur will play the matches in Jaipur from December 8 to 14. The knockouts will be held from December 19 to 24.

Winning start for Sindhu and Srikanth

PTI @ Bali

TOP Indian shuttlers PV Sindhu and Kidambi Srikanth registered straight-game victories to make impressive starts to their respective singles campaigns at the season-ending BWF World Tour Finals Wednesday. Lakshya Sen also won his first match after Kento Momota of Japan retired injured when the scoreline was 1-1 in the first game. Sindhu saw off Denmark's Line Christophersen 21-14, 21-16 after Srikanth beat France's Toma Junior Popov 21-14, 21-16.

The women's doubles pair of Ashwini Ponnappa and N Sikki Reddy, however, lost 14-21, 18-21 to Japanese combination of Nami Matsuyama and Chiharu Shida. Also starting with a loss was the men's doubles pair of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty.

The big event will be held in Huelva, Spain from December 12 to 19.

Vihari unbeaten on 45 as India A reach 198/5

BLOEMFONTEIN: Eyeing a senior national team return, Hanuma Vihari found some runs as India A reached 198 for five at stumps against South Africa A on the second day of the second unofficial Test here on Wednesday. Vihari was batting on 45 at the close of play, having found the fence six times while facing 146 balls.

Lakshadweep's fishermen and part-timers get a taste of professional football

MARTIN JOSEPH @Kochi

THE response from Milton Antony is almost instant, even a little sheepish. The Lakshadweep head coach has just finished his lengthy team talk in the dressing room and is ready to share his post-match thoughts after their 5-0 defeat at the hands of title contenders Kerala at the Jawaharlal Nehru International stadium in Kochi on a hot Wednesday morning.

The question is on whether any of these Lakshadweep players compete at a professional level as they were expected to lose by double the margin, but displayed some real quality, troubling Kerala's defence with just 10 men for majority of the game. "Oh no, not all. None of them are professionals. They are all mostly fisherfolk or doing other jobs back in Lakshadweep. Most of them are playing at such a big stadium like this for the first time in their lives. These are all new experiences and the Santosh Trophy is a massive stage for them," said Milton, an experienced coach from Kerala tasked with helping Lakshadweep find their feet at a still unfamiliar stage.

In fact, they only had their first taste of Santosh Trophy football as recently as the 2016-17 edition. Just like how Lakshadweep is geographically separated from the mainland, the football also feels detached. The word 'professional' seems alien to the footballing community in the union territory.

Similar to Kerala's sevens football circuit or Goa's famed inter-village competitions, Lakshadweep has a vibrant footballing culture where small-scale competitions are held across the various islands. But it is only when these players cross the sea and reach the mainland to compete in the Santosh Trophy they realise the professional world of football is different to what they're exposed to. Players conjure from the various islands for selection trials and have short camps before a team is quickly put together.

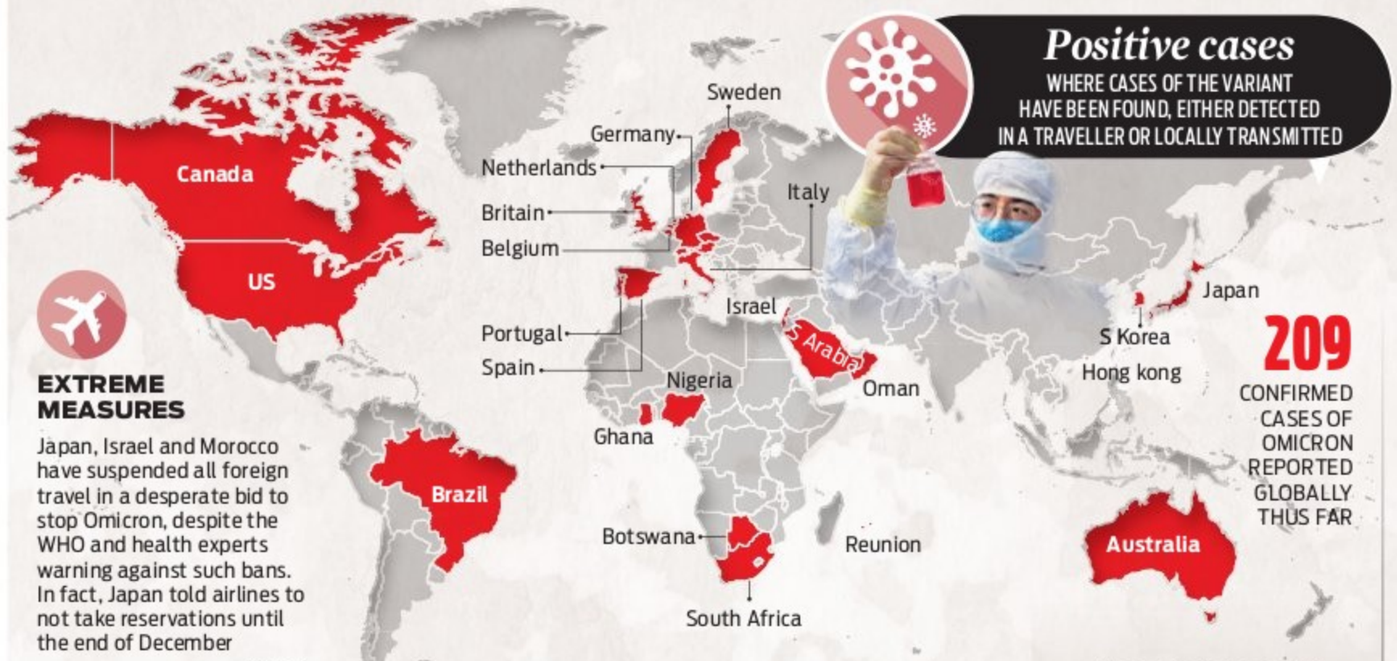
Covid-19 patients are airlifted to get them to ICUs in Germany amid a surge in cases

MAPPING THE OMICRON FOOTPRINT

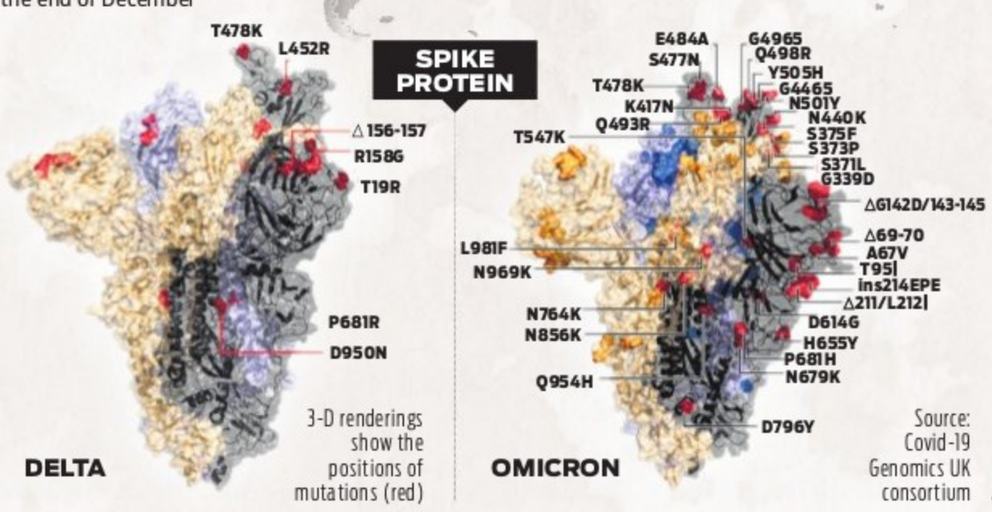
EXFILE • HEALTH

Just when the world was getting comfortable with managing the Covid-19 outbreak, a completely new variant called Omicron emerged out of nowhere and disturbed ambitious plans of opening up economies and learning to live with the virus. Just a few days after first cropping up on the radar of South African scientists, the variant has now been detected in travellers in at least 20 countries (see map). Here's an overview of how countries are trying to protect themselves from the variant. We also present a list of frequently asked questions to clear some doubts on new guidelines for fliers travelling to India



EXTREME MEASURES

Japan, Israel and Morocco have suspended all foreign travel in a desperate bid to stop Omicron, despite the WHO and health experts warning against such bans. In fact, Japan told airlines to not take reservations until the end of December



3-D renderings show the positions of mutations (red)

Source: Covid-19 Genomics UK consortium

Researchers need about two weeks time

To know how Omicron attacks cells, researchers need to build an arsenal of spike proteins

With prior variants such as Delta, mutations were few, hence scientists had to make only a handful of changes to a previously-built spike version

Omicron has about 30 mutations (Delta has nine) in its spike alone (see images on left). So, a lab has to start from scratch to make the gene in a DNA synthesis machine

Understanding new guidelines

1 What kind of RT-PCR tests have been approved by ICMR for use at airports?

Open system RTPCR; TrueNat; GeneXpert; RTLAMP; CRISPR/ TATAMD CHECK/FELUDA; Abbott ID Now; Accula by Thermofisher; Rapid RTPCR; CoviDx DirectPlex (airports to facilitate testing)

2 Should travellers excluding from those countries "at risk"* need to wait at airports till their post-arrival test result is declared?

Travellers may give the sample and leave. Random sampling, self-paid, would be limited to 2%. Airlines may check with state govt officials to select the passengers

3 If travellers from countries excluding those "at risk" are transiting through airports of countries "at risk", but staying within airports, can they be exempted from the post-arrival testing?

Yes

4 After submission of sample for post-arrival test at the point of arrival, travellers will be required to wait for results before taking a connecting flight?

After negative results are in, the passengers can take connecting flights to reach their destinations

TRAVEL RESTRICTIONS TO CHECK OMICRON SPREAD BROKEN DOWN BY COUNTRY

Norms for travellers vary widely around the world. We list the new rules, many of which went into effect on Wednesday, for select countries. Governments could of course change these rules at a moment's notice

INDIA

Fliers from "at risk"* countries should carry negative RT-PCR test reports and they will be tested again upon arrival at an Indian airport. Passengers who tested negative will have to undergo home isolation for seven days, followed by repeat testing on the eight day of arrival, followed by seven days of self-monitoring. For fliers from not "at risk" countries, two per cent of passengers in each flight will be tested randomly

CHINA

The Chinese mainland is not imposing any new travel curbs, but Hong Kong has barred foreigners who have been in eight African nations, Japan, Portugal and Sweden for the past 22 days. Hong Kong residents travelling from those countries will have a 7-day quarantine at a government facility with daily testing and monitoring by health professionals. After seven days, they will be quarantined for 14 days in a hotel

BRITAIN

Ban on foreigners travelling from six southern African nations. Ten-day quarantine and testing for citizens

UNITED STATES

Restrictions on foreigners travelling from eight southern African nations

AUSTRALIA

Flights from nine African nations suspended for at least 14 days and foreigners with a travel history to those locations barred from entering. Two-week quarantine still in place

UAE

Restrictions on travel for fliers from or transiting through eight African nations

SAUDI ARABIA

Flights from seven southern African nations banned, as is anyone who has been in those countries in the last 14 days. Five-day quarantine for citizens returning from that region

KUWAIT

Commercial flights from nine southern African nations suspended. Seven-day quarantine for citizens travelling from those countries, while non-Kuwaitis would be barred from entering within 14 days of visiting the countries

OMAN

Flights from seven southern African nations suspended, ban on entry for anyone who has been there

SINGAPORE

Tight restrictions on travel from seven southern African nations. No entry or transit through for non-nationals who have been in that region. Ten-day quarantine for citizens and residents

CANADA

Any foreigner who has been in seven southern African nations barred from entering. Canadian citizens need to test prior to departure and post-arrival, followed by 14-day home quarantine

SRI LANKA

Ban on foreigners who have been in six southern African nations in the last 14 days. Two-week quarantine for citizens returning from those countries

INDONESIA

Ban on any foreigner who has been in eight southern African nations in the last 14 days. Two-week quarantine for citizens flying in from those countries

MALDIVES

Tourists who travelled to or transited for more than 12 hours through seven southern African nations within 14 days will be denied entry

PAKISTAN

Travel banned from five southern African nations and Hong Kong. Citizens returning from those countries need to negative for Covid-19 and be vaccinated

RUSSIA

Ban on non-Russians travelling from nine southern African nations. Citizens only need to undergo testing

ARGENTINA

Fliers who have been anywhere in Africa in last 14 days to be quarantined after landing. Full vaccination proof and negative RT-PCR test needed, as well as an antigen test, upon arrival

*At-risk nations are European countries, the UK, South Africa, Brazil, Botswana, China, Mauritius, New Zealand, Zimbabwe, Singapore, Hong Kong and Israel

FACT OF THE MATTER

Earth's fungal networks

RESEARCH

Scientists from the United States and Europe announced plans Tuesday to create the biggest map of underground fungal networks, arguing they are an important but overlooked piece in the puzzle of how to tackle climate change. By working with local communities around the world the researchers said they will collect 10,000 DNA samples to determine how the vast networks that fungi create in the soil are changing as a result of human activity — including global warming. "Fungi are invisible ecosystem engineers, and their loss has gone largely unnoticed by the public," said Toby Kiers, a professor of evolutionary biology at Amsterdam's Free University and co-founder of the non-profit Society for Protection of Underground Networks.

Study predicts rain in Arctic

CLIMATE

Rainfall could start replacing snowfall in the Arctic decades sooner than previously thought, a study found Tuesday, warning the change caused by global warming could have effects beyond the region. The Arctic is warming much faster than the rest of the planet, melting sea ice and adding moisture to the air that is likely to increase precipitation. Comparing the latest projections to previous climate models, the study published in the scientific journal Nature Communications estimates the switch from snowfall-dominated annual precipitation to one dominated by rain will come about "one or two decades earlier". "Changes are going to be more severe," the study's main author Michelle McCrystall told AFP.

Renewable energy and net zero

CLIMATE

A solar-powered car in Palestine

Global growth in renewable electricity production is set to accelerate but needs to speed up even more to meet targets to reach net zero carbon emission targets, the IEA said. In its latest report on the sector, the IEA said that the installation of new renewable electricity generation capacity is expected to hit a record 290 gigawatts (GW) this year. Over the next five years, renewable capacity is expected to be added at a rate 50% higher than in the 2015-2020 period. In five years, global renewable electricity capacity is expected to have increased by 60% from 2020 levels to 4,800 GW. For comparison, this is the equivalent to the current total power capacity of fossil fuels and nuclear combined, it added.

US FDA nod for Merck pill expected

MEDICINE

WASHINGTON: A panel of US health experts have voted to recommend Merck's Covid pill for high-risk adults – a new form of treatment that is easy to administer and could prove better able to withstand variants, including Omicron.

Molnupiravir, already authorized in Britain, has been shown to reduce the rate of hospitalizations and deaths among people at high risk of developing severe Covid, when it is taken within five days of symptom onset.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA), which convened Tuesday's meeting, is now expected to grant an emergency use authorization for the treatment.

The independent scientists appointed by the FDA voted 13 in favor and 10 against authorization -- a narrow win that reflected some concerns over a recent downgrading of the treatment's efficacy results, as well as misgivings over potential side-effects.

EU mulls mandatory jabs to beat Omicron

MEDICINE

BRUSSELS: Europe's top official said Wednesday it was time to "think about mandatory vaccination" as the fast-spreading Omicron variant darkened forecasts and deepened fears of another difficult winter.

Rising infection rates have already seen European governments reintroduce mandatory mask-wearing, social-distancing measures, curfews or lockdowns in a desperate attempt to limit hospitalisations, but leaving businesses fearing another grim Christmas.

In Brussels, European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen said it was "understandable and appropriate" to discuss how to "encourage and potentially think about mandatory vaccination" in the bloc -- although only individual member states can impose vaccine mandates.

Austria has already said it will make Covid-19 jabs compulsory next February, Germany is mulling following suit and Greece on Tuesday said it will mandate vaccines for over-60s.

While it could take weeks to prove how infectious and resistant to current vaccines Omicron is, many countries have rushed to ramp up exisitng programmes, seeing them as the best line of defence.

Governments in Asia expanded Omicron curbs, with Indonesia adding Hong Kong and Malaysia listing Malawi on their travel ban lists.

New treaty

Even as governments acted unilaterally in imposing travel restrictions, WHO member states came together in Geneva to work on an international accord on handling the next pandemic.

An intergovernmental negotiating body will be established to reach an agreement on responding to future pandemics with a first meeting due before March 1, 2022.

The three-day meeting of the World Health Assembly was an unprecedented special session on considering a new accord on pandemics.

NEVER SEEN BEFORE

Coolest dino ever? Critter fought off predators with bladed tail

PALAEONTOLOGY

FOSSILS found in Chile are from a strange-looking dog-sized dinosaur species that had a unique slashing tail weapon, scientists reported.

Some dinosaurs had spiked tails they could use as stabbing weapons and others had tails with clubs. The new species, described in a study in the journal Nature, has something never seen before on any animal: seven pairs of "blades" laid out sideways like a slicing weapon used by ancient Aztec warriors, said lead author Alex Vargas.

"It's a really unusual weapon," said Vargas, a University of Chile paleontologist. "Books on prehistoric animals for kids need to update and put this weird tail in there. ... It just looks crazy."

The plant-eating critter had a combination of traits from different species that initially sent paleontologists down the wrong path. The back end, including its tail weapon, seemed similar to a stegosaurus, so the researchers named it stegouros elengassen.

After Vargas and his team examined the pieces of skull and did five different DNA analyses, they concluded it was only distantly related to the stegosaurus. Instead, it was a rare southern hemisphere member of the tank-like ankylosaur family of dinosaurs. (Though the stegouros name stuck and can be easily confused with the well-known stegosaurus.)

Vargas called it "the lost family branch of the ankylosaur."

The fossil is from about 72 million to 75 million years ago and appears to be an adult based on the way bones are fused, Vargas said. It was found with its front end flat on its belly and the back end angled down to a lower level, almost as if caught in quicksand, Vargas said.

From bird-like snout to tail tip, stegouros stretched six feet but would only come up to the thighs of humans.

The tail was probably for defense against large predators, which were also likely turned off by armor-like bones jutting out that made stegouros "chewy," Vargas said.

Not only is this "a really bizarre tail," but it is from far southern Chile, a region that hasn't yielded these types of animals before, an expert said.

Where comfort meets style

Unable to find the right fit for trousers, this Delhi-based entrepreneur decided to start a brand herself; she will be bringing the lounging trousers to Bengaluru today

EXPRESS FEATURES

QUITE often, women complain about not finding the right fitting trousers. Which is why Delhi-based Vandana Kohli decided to fill this gap with her brand, Tulip Comfortwear, which specialises in lounging trousers. Kohli is showcasing products from her brand, today.

According to Kohli, who is also an author and filmmaker, she started the brand out of a need for comfortable trousers for herself. "I love trousers but I got to a point where I could not wear regular ones because they were plain uncomfortable. I had a couple of minor procedures and found it difficult to get back to my old trousers," says Kohli, the sister of BJP spokesperson Nalin Kohli.

As a result of which, she started sampling materials with the help of a friend of hers. Kohli, who started the brand in March 2021, was clear about coming up with something that will keep women 'free' throughout the day, ones in which they can sleep or use for long travels. But she wanted to ensure they remain stylish. "Women can lounge in them at home or wear them while meeting a friend. My idea is that a woman should be able to navigate any space without worrying that her clothes are weighing her down," says Kohli, who has served as a member of the Board of Governors for the National Institute of Fashion Technology(2012-2019).

The trousers are priced at ₹1,600 onwards. "I feel once you are comfortable, you can explore your potential and go and do what you have to," says Kohli, who has served on the jury for the National Film Awards(62nd and 66th) and has also authored the book, Hinge: (Re)Discovering Emotional and Mental Wellness.

This is the first time Kohli is displaying her collection in Bengaluru. Speaking about her expectations, she says, "I have been told that women here are on the move. We cater to women from every age group, so I'm looking forward to meeting a diverse group."

Sathya Sankaran bicycle mayor

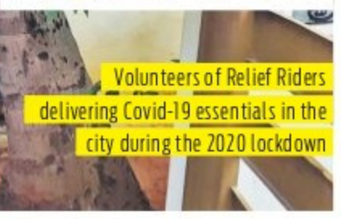
It's a big moment for volunteer group Relief Riders of India, led by bicycle mayor Sathya Sankaran, which has been nominated for the 2022 Nobel Peace Prize for their work during the lockdowns

WONDER WHEELS

ANILA KURIAN

IN 2020, when the world went under lockdown, this group stepped out to help those in need. Be it buying groceries or medicines, volunteer group Relief Riders of India, who rode bicycles to get the job done, went out of their way, quite literally, to ensure that people didn't feel helpless. It's a milestone moment for the group now which has officially been nominated for the 2022 Nobel Peace Prize. Sankaran received a letter from Leszek Sibilski, originator of World Bicycle Day, informing him about the nomination. A copy of the email was shared with CE.

Led by Bengaluru's bicycle mayor Sathya Sankaran, the volunteer group which started off with 80 people now comprises 275 members. In fact, the team also received the 2021 World Bicycle Day Award this year.



Volunteers of Relief Riders delivering Covid-19 essentials in the city during the 2020 lockdown

Speaking to CE, Sankaran says, "We were just helping out as best as we could and we're happy that our work has been recognised on an international platform. When the world had to hit the pause button, there were several people who couldn't help themselves. The volunteers really came together and provided them with whatever they needed."

Anyone who could ride a cycle and were above the age 18 were 'warriors' at this time. "Many youngsters under the age of 18 too often accompanied their parents for pick-ups and drop-offs. Some senior citizens also wanted to volunteer but we didn't encourage it too much as the vaccine wasn't available back then," says the mayor.

Challenges were numerous considering the uncertain circumstances that continue till date. "During the initial lockdown, all motorised vehicles were banned, and that's why we were the perfect rescuers. But then the debate of cyclists also needing a pass came about. Thankfully, all of it worked out and we were allowed to carry on with the volunteering work," says Sankaran, adding that the team also developed an app to track the goings-on of the group. "We made sure that everyone was safe and if at all they didn't feel alright, they were immediately asked to stay away till things were okay again. The app really helped bring this whole initiative together," he adds.

Sankaran feels the international media found the work impressive because of the sheer population of the country. "Every country has its own struggle but our population is insanely high compared to others. So, it makes it all the more complex," he says.

If and when the services of the Relief Riders of India are required, Sankaran is all set to press the pedal on the metal. But right now, he's basking in the glory of the nomination and the recognition their work has received.

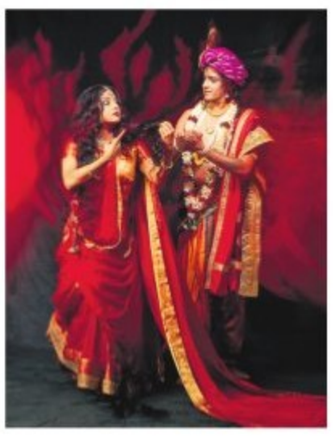
Dancers Nirupama and Rajendra are bringing their magnum opus dance musical which is based on the Broadway style of presentation

MONIKA MONALISA



A musical dance performance of Nirupama and Rajendra

IF you are an Indian classical dance lover, then watching dancers Nirupama and Rajendra perform live on stage should be on your to-do list. Known for their expressions, movements and energy, this show is a treat in itself. This time, the duo and their dance company, Abhinava Dance Company, are presenting a dance musical Rama Katha Vismaya and Krishnaa — Fire to Frost on Dec 11 and 12.

Both the musicals bring 70 artists together from across Karnataka. Promising it to be larger-than-life sets, along with cinematic lights and visuals, Nirupama says, "Even during the rehearsals, our studio is brimming with energy. It's absolutely beautiful to see so much positivity. There has been a dearth in interaction in the last two years."

Rama Katha Vismaya, which is scheduled on Dec 11, is a fantasy tale where a mother is narrating a bedtime story of Rama to her son. The show will give a glimpse of surreal forests and ethereal creatures. "When children listen to bedtime stories, they are filled with wonder. And the Ramayana is a perfect story with multi-layered characters like gods, demons, sages etc. We present stories from the Ramayana in a very creative way," says Nirupama.

The show — Krishnaa — Fire to Frost, scheduled on Dec 12, revolves around the life of Draupadi. Nirupama mentions that though the story is told through the lens of a child's imagination, it is interesting for anyone to watch. "All of us have a child in us and we love to hear stories. That's what the show is going to bring out in the most colourful way," she adds.

Having experimented with Flamenco beats with Kathak, Irish and Indian music earlier, this time the team decided to stick to Indian contemporary tunes. "There is so much potential in Indian dance forms and music. There are so many different symphony orchestrations to bring the grandness of an element," she adds.

Conceptualising a show of this magnitude for the past three months has definitely not been easy. And working with a partner, who is also a dancer, comes with its own set of challenges. "We have our own individual qualities as well. For example, Rajendra is extraordinary with lighting and music, and I am versatile in several dance forms like Bharatanatyam, Kathak and natyashastra. But we have one passion which is art," says Nirupama, whose day begins and ends with rehearsals and productions for the show.

The dance company's magnum opus shows are often compared to broadway shows. Even Grammy winner AR Rehman has complimented their previous shows as India's answer to Las Vegas shows, with Indian content.

(Rama Katha Vismaya and Krishnaa — Fire to Frost will be performed at Dr Premchandra Sagar Auditorium, Dayananda Sagar Institutions on December 11 and 12, respectively)

WALDORF-INSPIRED SALAD

INGREDIENTS

- Washington apple: 1
- Pear: 1
- Red grapes: 150 gm (seedless)
- Walnuts: 50 gm
- Olives: to garnish
- Sweetened yogurt: 50 gm
- Romaine lettuce
- Salt: 1 tsp
- Black peppers: 1 tsp

METHOD

- Julienne the apple and pears. Lightly chop walnuts. Toast them a bit.
- Roast the grapes in the oven with a little bit of salt at 180°C for 10-15 mins. They will get caramelised and give off a sweetened flavour.
- In a bowl, add the apples, walnuts and caramelised grapes. Make sure to add the juices as well. Add torn lettuce leaves as well.
- Just before serving, add a pinch of salt and freshly crushed black peppers and garnish with olives. — Somansh Grover, New Delhi

1 ARE ATHLETES REALLY GETTING FASTER, BETTER, STRONGER? BY DAVID EPSTEIN

When you look at sporting achievements over the last decades, it seems like humans have gotten faster, better and stronger in every way. Yet as David Epstein points out, we might want to lay off the self-congratulation. Many factors are at play in shattering athletic records, and the development of our natural talents is just one of them.

FIT BIT

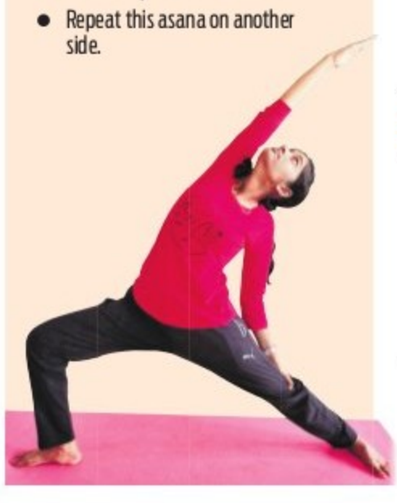
PARIVRTTA VIPARITA VIRABHADRASANA

(TWISTED REVERSE WARRIOR POSE)

This is an intermediate level standing asana and it will strengthen and improve your flexibility and open your hip and chest. It shares a range of benefits with Virabhadrasana B. It energises the mind and body and builds perseverance. It balances three of the chakras in the body: Muladhara (root), associated with a sense of grounding and stability; Manipura (solar plexus), associated with self-confidence; and Ajna (third eye), associated with intuition and imagination. It is one in a series of foundational yoga poses named for the mythological warrior, Virabhadra.

STEPS

- Stand in Tadasana (Mountain Pose). Open your legs wide apart according to your comfort, but a bit of stress can give your body the stretch. But too much stretching can strain your backbone.
- Try to bend your right knee in such a way that it forms 90-degree from your heel. Your right toe should be pointed in the right direction.
- Your upper body should be straight, and heels should be aligned with each other.
- Now, turn reverse or from the backside and touch your left knee joint with your right palm slowly, starting through the hamstring to downwards.
- Then lift your left hand straight in an upward direction as you gaze at your fingers.
- Hold this pose for 30 to 60 seconds, and slowly come back and relax.
- Repeat this asana on another side.



BENEFITS

- It opens the hips and thus, opens motion and circulation and decreases back pasin; makes you feel energetic.
- It works on your heart muscles and improves heart health.
- Opens the gaps between vertebrae, hence circulating more blood in their nerves, which will increase the health of the spinal cord.
- Your body feels pressurised, which will significantly strengthen your thighs, calves, arms and shoulders.
- Stretches your body parts and improves flexibility in your body.
- While holding this asana, you will feel stress on your arms and shoulders, which will increase strength and body balance.

LIMITATIONS

- If you are suffering from chronic injury in hips, spine, knees or shoulders, hamstring injury, avoid this asana. Avoid too much pressure during menstruation and pregnancy.

BABY ON THE WAY?

Check out this health guide for moms-to-be during winter

DR ARUNA MURALIDHAR

WITH winter here and uncertainty about the Covid situation, there is a lot of anxiety surrounding care for pregnant women. Influenza, common cold and other respiratory viruses also may be prevalent and cause confusion. Although a zero risk of infection cannot be guaranteed, here we suggest some tips for pregnant women to sail smoothly through winter. Although the climate varies with the geographical location of the pregnant women, there are some common precautions that can and should be taken by them. Staying warm indoors, drinking plenty of water, and getting some regular exercise are some general recommendations. In the current Covid situation, it would be prudent to be extra cautious with the precautions against the novel coronavirus. Hence, rules such as regular hand washing, maintaining respiratory hygiene and social distancing and avoiding any group activities or functions will have to go up one level.

A balanced nutritious diet in the winter months certainly plays a role in improving health, immunity and mood. Greens, ginger, gooseberry, garlic, dry fruits like almonds etc. have various vitamins and minerals that help boost immunity and repair. Avoiding fizzy drinks, coffee and tea and instead opt for fresh fruit or juice and soups. Certain supplements would help boost immunity. Hence, the healthcare provider/ obstetrician may be consulted for addition of Vitamin C and Vitamin D (the latter if levels are low) to your medications list.

Personal hygiene must include a good regular skin care routine by frequently applying soothing oils and natural moisturisers. Dry, flaky, itchy skin can be common both due to the dry cold weather as well as the stretching skin marks especially around the abdomen, thighs and breasts. Regular moisturisation with unscented natural products will provide that well-needed relief. Salon services though not completely prohibited, should be more natural products-based.

Wearing appropriately warm clothes for the weather and keeping feet warm would is advised. Warm showers and foot baths can be considered to soothe aches and pains and improve circulation.

Regular checks with the obstetrician must continue depending on the schedule planned by the doctor. If the pregnancy is progressing normally, the frequency of direct visits may reduce. Online consultations from the comfort and warmth of the home, alternating with direct checks certainly have a lot of advantages in terms of reducing risk of Covid infection and commute-related pollution and stress. However, if the pregnancy needs closer supervision and surveillance, hospital or clinic visits must continue. Ultrasound scans, blood tests and doctor appointments must ideally be clubbed together to avoid too many visits to the healthcare centre.

Other than the immunisation against tetanus, diphtheria and pertussis, a vaccination against seasonal flu/ influenza is recommended. In the current Covid, the flu shot becomes all the more important. This helps in two ways. One being avoiding any flu symptoms leading to anxiety about Covid and other, to reduce the burden on the healthcare system. Although the symptoms of flu and Covid are similar, the presence of one of these symptoms may point towards to Covid:

- High temperature
- A new, continuous cough
- A loss or change to their sense of smell or taste

If these symptoms occur, it would be recommended to contact your healthcare provider within 24 hours and get the Covid test done in order to initiate the appropriate and timely treatment. Since many are asymptomatic or mildly symptomatic, home isolation and care may continue.

Hence, although there are apprehensions regarding the approaching winter, a little care and plenty of common sense will help most pregnant women sail through the season with ease and comfort. As William Blake said, 'In seed time learn, in harvest teach, in winter enjoy.'

Obesity is a chronic progressive disease that affects the body from head to toe. Here's how you can evaluate your weight

WEIGHTY MATTERS

DR MAHESH CHIKKACHANNAPPA

Obesity is a disorder involving excessive body fat that increases the risk of health problems. Obesity and adolescence is not amenable to a single easily modified factor. Biological, cultural and environmental factors such as readily available high-density food choices impact youth-eating behaviours. Media devices and associated screen time makes physical activity a less optimal choice for children and adolescents. Obesity is preventable. Thus, identifying early determinants or 'warning signs' of future development of obesity is important.

Markers of obesity

Obesity is a chronic progressive disease that affects the body from head to toe. It can affect joints, limit your mobility, lungs, liver and reproductive health. Intake of excess calories or excess fat consumption and excess carbohydrate in the diet and inadequate physical activity are the main causes of obesity. It is considered a worldwide epidemic and the incidence of obesity among people has increased over the last few years.

During the Covid-19 pandemic, the cases have become more evident. When the lockdown was in place, people were restricted from moving out of their homes, the sudden change in lifestyle, lack of physical activities and work from home culture has resulted in many people feeling anxious and depressed which has led to an increase in unhealthy binge eating and indulging in bad habits in many. All these contribute to the development of obesity.

Understanding the ideal body weight

In India, being fat is considered a sign of prosperity and good health in many cultures. But one must understand that in order to be fit, your height and weight should be in proper proportion. Body Mass Index is a person's weight in kilograms divided by the square of height in meters. It is used to check if your height matches your body weight. It determines the excess fat in the body and the status of weight in connection with the fat. The number differs for men and women. The calculator is helpful in focusing on the health issues and getting an idea about the body mass. One can calculate the BMI on its own or can do it online. Normal BMI starts from 18.5 kg/metre square to 25 kg/m2. If the number is less than 15 it means you are underweight.

25 to 30 BMI is regarded as overweight and, beyond 30 means you are obese.

(The writer is senior consultant — general, Laparoscopic & Bariatric Surgery, Aster CMI Hospital)

Healthy eating is the key

One must not forget the saying 'you are what you eat'. To maintain a healthy body weight, it's important to eat healthy and exercise. Alongside, focus more on building a healthy body rather than losing weight instantly. Losing weight in severely obese people can be a challenging task which often ends up in losing hope when it fails. For them, visiting a weight management clinic to seek help can be beneficial. Support from family, a dedicated plan and a motivated set of individuals are required to help address each person's obesity on an individual basis. In certain cases, bariatric surgery has shown great merit in helping control weight and reverse obesity-related comorbidities. However, it is recommended to reach out to a dietitian or an endocrinologist experienced in weight management. They will be able to guide you and help with your diet plan, exercise and weight management options based on your body.

Three essential facts on lung infections

India accounts for 23 per cent of the global pneumonia burden with case fatality rates between 14 and 30 per cent

DR SONALI DIGHE

THE Covid-19 pandemic of 2020-21 made all of us pay greater attention to our respiratory health, immunity, and hygiene practices. Even before Covid-19, lung infections (pneumonia) were the single biggest infectious killer of adults and children — claiming countless lives.

India accounts for 23 per cent of the global pneumonia burden with case fatality rates between 14 and 30 per cent, and the bacteria Streptococcus pneumoniae is considered a major bacterial cause.

Who is at risk?

Pneumococcal pneumonia is a potentially serious disease you shouldn't ignore. It can disrupt your life for weeks and even land you in the hospital.

The immune system naturally weakens with age, so even if you're healthy and active, being 65 or older is a key risk factor for pneumococcal pneumonia.

Pneumococcal bacteria spreads from person to person through coughing, sneezing, and close contact. People can carry the bacteria in their nose and throat without being sick and spread the bacteria to others.

Chronic conditions like lung diseases, including COPD (chronic obstructive pulmonary disease), asthma, heart disease, and diabetes, can make people more vulnerable to potentially serious illnesses like pneumococcal pneumonia. Smoking damages fragile lung tissue, making lungs more vulnerable to infection. When the lung tissue is damaged by smoking, there's a higher risk of infection by the bacteria that causes pneumococcal pneumonia.

What can you do?

Most healthy people recover from pneumonia in one to three weeks, but it can be life-threatening.

You can reduce your risk of getting pneumonia by following a few simple steps.

Vaccination can help prevent pneumococcal pneumonia. Pneumococcal vaccine is already available and can be given to patients at any age, based on the doctor's prescription and recommendation. Talk to your doctor about whether you and your children are up to date on your vaccines and to determine if any of these vaccines are appropriate for you as an adult.

Several hygiene practices that have now been enforced in public places or in areas with high footfall also help lower the risk of infectious diseases such as pneumococcal pneumonia.

For example, frequent hand washing, particularly after visiting a public area; wearing of masks, especially if a person has symptoms of a respiratory infection; and the maintaining of social distance as far as possible, can help lower the transmission of bacterial and viral infections.

NUGGETS

Omicron highly uncertain, may require stringent response

The newly-detected Omicron variant of coronavirus is "highly uncertain" but may require a "very stringent response", scientists have said. According to them, it is "highly likely" that Omicron can escape immunity caused by previous infection or vaccination "to some extent". The existing Delta variant is already more resistant to vaccines than the original version of the virus found in Wuhan. The scientists believe that booster jabs are likely to provide protection against severe disease, hospitalisation and death from most variants in the short term.

Doctors without borders report 180 cholera cases

At least eight people have died and more than 180 others have been infected in a cholera epidemic that is sweeping across two districts in Cameroon's Southwest region, international medical charity Doctors Without Borders (MSF) said. "The Ekondo Titi Health District has reported over 160 cases of cholera, with 62 patients hospitalised at the Cholera Treatment Unit, 15 patients treated at the Oral Rehydration points, and 5 deaths recorded. The condition is particularly worrying because it means that cholera has spread in the community," Donatien Tshishimbi, MSF Medical Coordinator said. —IANS

SOULFUL

The process of hate

SHE was a teacher, or rather had been one. She was affectionate and kindly, and this had almost become a routine. She said she had taught for over twenty-five years and had been happy in it; and although towards the end she had wanted to get away from the whole thing, she had stuck to it. Recently she had begun to realise what was deeply buried in her nature. She had suddenly discovered it during one of the discussions, and it had really surprised and shocked her. It was there, and it wasn't a mere self-accusation; and as she looked back through the years she could now see that it had always been there. She really hated it. It was not hatred of anyone in particular, but a feeling of general hate, a suppressed antagonism towards everyone and everything. When she first discovered it, she thought it was something very superficial which she could easily throw off; but as the days went by she found that it wasn't just a mild affair, but a deep-rooted hatred which had been going on all her life. What shocked her was that she had always thought she was affectionate and kind.

Love is a strange thing; as long as thought is woven through it, it is not love. When you think of someone you love, that person becomes the symbol of pleasant sensations, memories, images; but that is not love. Thought is sensation, and sensation is not love. The very process of thinking is the denial of love. Love is the flame without the smoke of thought, of jealousy, of antagonism, of usage, which are things of the mind. As long as the heart is burdened with the things of the mind, there must be hate; for the mind is the seat of hate, of antagonism, of opposition, of conflict. Thought is reaction, and reaction is always, in one way or another, the source of enmity. Thought is opposition, hate; thought is always in competition, always seeking an end, success; its fulfilment is pleasure and its frustration is hate. Conflict is thought caught in the opposites; and the synthesis of the opposites is still hate, antagonism.

"You see, I always thought I loved the children, and even when they grew up they used to come to me for comfort when they were in trouble. I took it for granted that I loved them, especially those who were my favourites away from the classroom; but now I see there has always been an undercurrent of hate, of deep-rooted antagonism. What am I to do with this discovery? You have no idea how appalled I am by it, and though you say we must not condemn, this discovery has been very salutary."

Have you also discovered the process of hate? To see the cause, to know why you hate, is comparatively easy; but are you aware of the ways of hate? Do you observe it as you would a strange new animal? "It is all so new to me, and I have never watched the process of hate."

Let us do so now and see what happens; let us be passively watchful of hate as it unrolls itself. Don't be shocked, don't condemn or find excuses; just passively watch it. Hate is a form of frustration, is it not? Fulfilment and frustration always go together.

Vaibhavi Shandilya

VAIBHAVI SHANDILYA ONBOARD MARTIN

The actor is set to star in Dhruva Sarja's upcoming mass entertainer directed by AP Arjun

A SHARADHAA

DHRUVA Sarja-AP Arjun's next Martin, which was launched on August 15, is currently on floors. And according to the latest update, Vaibhavi Shandilya has been signed on as the female lead. The actor, who has made her mark in Marathi, Telugu, and Tamil marked her Sandalwood debut with Raj Vishnu. She is part of Yogaraj Bhat's Gaalipata 2, and Martin will be her third film in Kannada.

While the team has been tight-lipped about the cast, we learn from sources that Vaibhavi has already joined the sets, and has participated in four days of shooting.

Dhruva Sarja

Martin will be another Kannada film that is looking for a pan-India appeal, and the film will be dubbed in Telugu, Tamil, Malayalam, and Hindi. Martin will be Dhruva's second association with AP Arjun after Addhuri, which marked the debut of the Action Prince.

The actor in his previous interview had mentioned that he is excited to team up with Arjun, and feels like it is his first film. Dhruva had also mentioned that even though the title was Martin, however, he is not playing the titular role.

Backed by Uday K Mehta, the screenplay of Martin is written by Arun Balaji and Swamiji. The music for Martin is composed by Mani Sharma, and the makers have already sold the film's audio rights to Lahari music. The film's cinematography is handled by Satya Hegde.

Sriimurali: MadhaGaja has all that is expected out of a mass entertainer

The actor talks about his upcoming film, directed by Mahesh Kumar

CE FEATURES

Sriimurali

UNDOUBTEDLY, Prashanth Neel's Ugramm was a turning point in Sriimurali's career that propelled him to do mass films like Rathaavara, Bharaate, and now MadhaGaja. With each of these films, Sriimurali has chosen interesting subjects. So is it the demand of the audience or is it his creativity, and curiosity that pushes him to choose such themes? "Preparation plays a key role, especially at a time when we are facing a lot of competition from our peers across languages. My basic intention has always been to give the audience a new experience with each film," explains Sriimurali as he talks about his upcoming release, MadhaGaja, which is slated to hit the screens on December 3.

Sriimurali says MadhaGaja brought together a good team, which included producer Umapathy and one-film-old director, Mahesh Kumar. "The two exactly knew what kind of a subject I fit into, and worked around it. From the technical team, we had Ravi Basrur, whose work I can't express in just a few words. He is fabulous. Then we have Naveen Kumar, with whom I am associating for the second time after Mufti. The credit will go to the entire team," he says.

Reluctant to give details about his role in MadhaGaja, Sriimurali says, "At this moment all I can say is that it is a film made wholeheartedly. Nothing is overdone, and everything is to the point. MadhaGaja has all that is expected out of a mass entertainer," he says. However, Sriimurali states that he had his struggles in MadhaGaja, and shares a few unforgettable incidents. "The shooting began in the year 2020 during Sivaratri, and we managed to complete the first schedule in Varanasi, and just when the shooting was at a good pace, the pandemic gave us the first blow. I was heartbroken and shattered. Just when life was getting back to normal, and we had planned various schedules, I suffered a leg injury during a fight sequence. This further annoyed me and I was irritated. Then followed the second wave, which took away six more months. And when the time was running out, we took it up as a challenge and completed the shooting," says Sriimurali, who is still mourning the death of his cousin Puneeth Rajkumar. "I miss my cousin, and he has no replacement. I still don't want to believe something like this has happened. We are unlucky to lose him, " he adds.

With Ashika Ranganath as the heroine, Sriimuralii, who is part of the ensemble cast had the opportunity to share screen space with actors like Jagapathi Babu and Devayani for the first time. "Coming with a lot of experience, they still maintain professionalism. They come prepared and are focused on their work. It is not easy to work with such senior actors. I tried to behave normally to let go off that fear, and it worked. It was equally a pleasure to work with our artistes like Rangayana Raghu, Chikanna, and Shivaraj K R Pete among many others," says Sriimurali, who signs off by saying, "It is not easy to bring out such movies like MadhaGaja now and then. I am eagerly waiting for the audience's reaction."

A still from MadhaGaja

Mahesh Kumar

'I first learnt to let go of my ego, and it was a task'

CE FEATURES

MadhaGaja marks the second film for Mahesh Kumar, who delivered a blockbuster with his debut film, Ayogya. The director has been working on the project for 3 years, and during this transition, he has made sure to bring in changes in his style of filmmaking.

"Working with the Sriimurali, a huge cast, a big banner -- Umapathy Films, and equally good technicians, I first learned to let go of my ego, and it was a task. Instead, I concentrated on how much work I could take out from every actor and technician. I felt this was an improvisation and a change I made in myself as a filmmaker," he says.

Mahesh Kumar says that his strength lies in screenplay and direction. Ask him his idea of the commercial formula, Mahesh says, "Any kind of social awareness can be reached out through mass entertainers, something that cannot be reached through art films. In my opinion, commercial films are a good platform to highlight topics of social concerns."

Coming back to his upcoming film, MadhaGaja, Mahesh has based the subject and characters on events and incidents he has read and observed. He also reveals 'Mother sentiment' is the main soul of MadhaGaja, and the rest of the elements -- love, action, comedy are like accessories. "Any film revolving around mother sentiment will never fail, and will be the high note in this film," he says.

Halle Berry, Netflix sign multi-film deal

CE FEATURES

HALLE Berry, who recently made her directorial debut with the Netflix film Bruised, has signed a multi-picture deal with the streaming giant.

"My directorial debut, Bruised, was a labour of love and I knew that Scott and Ted would treat it with great care," Berry said of Netflix film head Scott Stuber and co-CEO Ted Sarandos. She wrote, "The Netflix team has not only been collaborative and creative, but extremely passionate and a delight to work with. I am beyond grateful for the partnership and look forward to telling more stories together."

Nushrratt Bharuccha: There are no retakes for fear

SHILAJIT MITRA

FOR three days, a lone, anxious woman must face unspeakable terrors in a secluded home. I'm talking, of course, of Chhorii, not the Princess Diana movie you may have caught two weeks ago. In Vishal Furia's film, a pregnant woman, Sakshi, played by Nushrratt Bharuccha, escapes to rural Haryana with her husband. Their hosts, though initially cordial, start baring their teeth. Sakshi is trapped in a squat house surrounded by sugarcane fields. The whole place teems with visions: scampering children, a woman in veil, a radio. We're shown bellies with stab wounds on them. Remade from a Marathi film, Chhorii is grim and graphic, though incredibly heavy-handed with its allegories.

"I enjoy horror a lot," shares Nushrratt, who is returning to the genre after 2014's Darr @ the Mall. "It's one of those guilty pleasure things I have to indulge in. On Chhorii, I was like an eager child wanting to do more and explore more. It helped that I and the director were in sync and had a similar vision for the film."

A spooky moment finds her character haunted by clanging bells. Nushrratt says she wasn't aware of the contraptions on set. As a result, her reaction flew more promptly and naturally. "There are no retakes for fear," she says.

The original film, Lapachhapi (2017), was in Marathi. Vishal, who co-wrote and directed both versions, was inspired by reports of female infanticide and ritual sacrifice across the country. The Hindi film relocates to Haryana, a state notorious for its skewed sex ratio—according to the recent National Family Health Survey-5 (2020-2021), though, Haryana has seen an uptick in sex ratio at birth for infant girls.

Nushrratt Bharuccha

"The social evil (of female infanticide) is universal," Vishal says of his decision to change the setting and diction. "It exists not just in India but in multiple countries outside. So there's a lot the new film has to do for its messaging to reach the correct audience."

This is reflected in the fleshing out of the antagonists—an old rural couple portrayed by Mita Vashisht and Rajesh Jais. Mita, especially, had a tough gig, not just speaking rough, rustic Haryanvi but also matching up to Usha Naik's terrifying original performance. The role was great fun for Mita, who is from Maharashtra but has worked extensively across the North.

"In Haryanvi there's a saying, 'ke deekhe se..', which means what she appears on the outside she is not," Mita says. "I was excited to play someone who's in a strange way a mystery. You don't know what she's about."

While their characters represent opposing ideas of India, Mita and Nushrratt bonded easily on set. On different vantage points of their careers, the actors had much to share.

"We've sat and discussed life and what it's like to be a woman in this industry," Nushrratt recalls. "Things that were setbacks to her, things that almost happened for her and then didn't..." "A lot of questions Nushrratt is asking herself are things I've dealt with long ago," Mita adds. "Maybe, because of age or experience, I feel protective of her."

Mita Vashisht

Chhorii joins a wave of recent Hindi films utilizing horror to highlight social ills. Vishal, though, shuns the tag of 'feminist horror', saying the film just happens to be about a female protagonist escaping patriarchal traditions. "If I call it a feminist film then probably some audiences might not want to watch it," he says. "It's a horror film that has something to say. The message is organically weaved into the story. By the end, we want it to have an impact without being preachy about it." "We just want people to open up their minds," Nushrratt adds. Chhorii is streaming on Amazon Prime Video.
